New Teacher Induction and School Leadership Development. New Teacher Induction: At the center of NTC's comprehensive, high-quality induction model, beginning teachers receive regular, one-on-one mentoring and professional development. Using tools in the NTC standards-based Formative Assessment System, the new teacher and mentor assess student needs, establish goals, and analyze progress. Online venues offer additional 'anytime, anywhere' access to mentoring, professional development, and communities of practice. The results pay off with satisfied, skilled educators that build district capacity, advance student learning, and close achievement gaps. In the 2012-13 school year, NTC's programs reached over 5,702 mentors, 23,193 beginning teachers and 1.6 million students. School Leadership Development: Today's principals are responsible for creating collaborative learning conditions and have an important role related to teacher development, evaluation, and school improvement. NTC partners with districts to provide job-embedded executive coaching and professional development to help new and experienced school leaders navigate their evolving roles while maintaining a strategic focus on instruction and student learning. School leaders gain confidence in observing classroom practice, providing meaningful developmental feedback and creating effective learning environments where all members of the school community can thrive.

Impact and Research. Measuring impact is essential to improve program quality and effectiveness to better serve students, teachers, and schools, tell the story to illustrate the program's value to decision-makers and funders, and make evidence-based decisions. NTC continues to examine how induction programs can most accurately measure and articulate their impact and has begun to define the specific steps involved in creating such a plan. In addition to measuring impact, NTC continues to develop research-based systems that support new teacher growth, like online e-Mentoring for Student Success and other cutting-edge solutions.

4c

(Code) (Expenses $ 958,066 including grants of $) (Revenue $ 1,640,933)

Teaching and Learning Conditions Initiative. To do their jobs well, educators need supportive school environments where they are valued, trusted, and empowered to collaborate to improve instruction. NTC's Teaching and Learning Conditions Initiative assists states and school districts to document and analyze how teachers view their teaching and learning conditions and to identify the impact on school communities. The initiative provides policy makers at the state, district, and school level with data and tools that facilitate data-driven decisions on policy and practice that are unique in the education arena. Since 2008, NTC has heard from more than one million educators participating in 15 state initiatives and 24 districtwide surveys, providing over 25,000 school data reports enabling them to better understand and improve teaching conditions.
