Part I & Part III, Statement of Program Service Accomplishments

Line 28: The Astronomical Society of Kansas City ("ASKC") owns and operates Powell Observatory, a semi-public observatory located in Louisburg, Kansas. Powell Observatory is located on a 1 acre site rented from the City of Louisburg for $1.00 per year. Powell Observatory was constructed in 1984 with a grant from the Powell Family Foundation. The value of Powell Observatory is recorded on the books of the ASKC for $350,000. Powell Observatory is utilized for public events where it is open to the public each Saturday evening from May through October. Members provide staffing on a volunteer basis. Powell Observatory is also available for reservation other nights of the year. Student groups and boy and girl scouts are frequent reservers. During the fiscal year, Powell Observatory was visited by 4,718 adults and children during these events. A donation is requested but not mandatory. Expenses were not directly allocated to this program.

Line 29: Powell Observatory is the home of Observatory 649, registered with the Minor Planet Center, at Harvard University. Teams of members on clear nights locate and find Near Earth Asteroids and report their location to the Minor Planet Center. Equipment utilized include the 30" Ruisinger Telescope located at Powell Observatory and an Apogee AP-8P CCD camera purchased from the proceeds of a grant from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration ("NASA") received in approximately 2000. In 2001, Powell Observatory was the No. 2 observatory in the world in locating Near Earth Objects (NEO's) (and reporting them to the Minor Planet Center, at Harvard). There is no program service revenue for this program and no expenses were allocated.

Line 30: The members of the ASKC also assist school groups with their science nights. Typically a grade school, middle school or high school in the metropolitan area calls and requests that one or more members assist with their science nights. This occurs on about 30-40 evenings and from 1 to 10 members at each of those events bring their telescopes to the school parking lot and set them up for the students to view astronomical objects. Approximately 2,275 students, parents and teachers were shown the night sky by club members during the fiscal year. While occasionally donation revenue occurs as a result of these school science nights, the revenue is combined with the Powell Observatory revenue and no expenses are allocated either. Members pay their own expenses of travel and attendance.

Line 31: The Astronomical Society of Kansas City owns a 40 acre site near Butler, Missouri. The site is utilized for member education and observations and for the Heart of America Star Party. (HOASP) Approximately 120 astronomers from 8 to 10 states attended the HOASP. Educational speakers from local and regional universities spoke and educated the astronomers in attendance. Program service revenue during the fiscal year was approximately $9,122.00 and expenses from this event were approximately $5,134.95.
