Form 990-EZ, Part III - Primary Exempt Purpose

The goal of ARISE Foundation is to introduce easily understood, vital life skills lessons (the kind of advice parents and grandparents used to share) to at-risk youth in dynamic, information-rich group sessions conducted by well trained and inspired ARISE Group Facilitators, enabling youth to make successful life choices.

Form 990-EZ, Part III, Line 28 - First Accomplishment

ARISE focuses on troubled youth-violent, aggressive offenders who all too often thumb their nose at family and community, ending up in the juvenile justice system. ARISE has chosen to educate these children, many of whom suffer from substance-abuse dependency, mental and emotional problems. Many have been subjected to extreme physical and sexual abuse. They require much more than just steel doors and razor wire fences for any chance at a normal life. ARISE-trained juvenile care officers deliver the ARISE social skills lessons as an antidote to their anti-social behavior.

According to America's Promise: The Alliance for Youth, nearly 67% of African-American children and almost 25% of white children live in households with only one parent. Two million American children have a parent in jail, and approximately 8 million children regularly spend time without adult supervision. A total of 30 million young Americans live in families with incomes below the poverty level. Life is often too hard for many youth. When daily survival is the priority, many of the tools youth need to make healthy choices are not available. This is where the ARISE Foundation makes a difference. A 1998 study by Vanderbilt University estimated that each high-risk juvenile prevented from adopting a life of crime could save the country 3 million dollars.

ARISE Foundation's mission is to introduce valuable life skills to at-risk troubled youth, enabling them to achieve their highest potential through training and education. This mission is accomplished in two ways: the development of specialized life-skills lessons and careful training of ARISE-certified life-skills instructors.

Since ARISE was established in 1986, its founders have written a complete library of life-skills lessons targeted specifically at troubled youth. Topics include anger management, conflict resolution, and finding and keeping a job, among others. ARISE material is evidence based, easily understood, and interactive. It boosts academic skills as well as social skills.

Because this population required gentle encouragement to express their honest feelings in ARISE groups, staff training was a must. ARISE created a unique delivery system for teaching life skills by training staff in an intensive fourteen-hour program on precisely how to conduct memorable, interactive, ARISE group life-skills lessons. Over 5,000 ARISE Certified Life-Skills Instructors have been trained in the US, Canada, Bermuda and beyond. They have taught in excess of 5,000,000 documented hours of ARISE life-skills lessons to at-risk youth in Florida and Washington, D.C. alone. ARISE lessons are currently used in juvenile correctional facilities, detention centers and individuals in probation in the state of Florida. Many other organizations in the US are utilizing ARISE life-skills lessons and staff training to help youngsters meet the challenges they will
