Return Reference	Explanation
Form 990, Part VI, Section B, Line 12c	Water Research Foundation regularly and consistently monitors and enforces conflict of interest at varying frequencies and levels of monitoring, depending on the risk of a potential conflict and its likely impact on WRF. WRF's policy addresses conflict of interest in terms of its staff, management, Board of Trustees, and volunteer leadership. On an annual basis, the Board of Trustees, as WRF representatives, submit a signed "Disclosure of Significant Interests" form which identifies existing or potential relationships that may cause a conflict of interest with WRF activity. Paid staff, also deemed WRF representatives, submit a conflict of interest statement when they are hired and are responsible to immediately self-report any known conflict of interest whenever such conflict arises. Any disclosure is first adjudicated by WRF management, pursuant to guidelines established by the Policy. Management will elevate a disclosed conflict to the Foundation's Audit Committee for its oversight, when necessary. The Audit Committee performs this function on behalf of the Board of Trustees. WRF's Conflict of Interest Policy sets stringent guidelines for conduct, confidentiality, decision-making, and acceptance of gratuities. Decisions of this committee may be appealed to the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees. Violation of the provision of this policy is cause for removal from Foundation activities. Trustees shall inform the full board at the outset of the discussion on proposals for potential funding of any involvement of their organization in any of the proposals under consideration. For projects in which a trustee's organization is the primary submitter on a proposal, the trustee must excuse himself/herself from all discussion on the proposal by leaving the room. The trustee is also ineligible to vote on the proposal. During its normal course of business, WRF also seeks involvement from several volunteer "committees" or "councils", comprised primarily of subscriber personnel or other professionals with water-related expertise. As monitored by a WRF representative, all committee volunteers are required to self-report any existing or potential conflicts of interest. Reported conflicts shall then be assessed by WRF's representative and/or WRF management, who shall be responsible to enforce the provisions of the WRF's Conflict of Interest Policy pursuant to that volunteer's level of involvement of decision-making in his/her respective committee or council.
