Part III – Statement of Program Service Accomplishments

TRAC Reports, Inc. was formed for the purpose of achieving certain educational, scientific and charitable objectives. These objectives include making available for research, public interest, academic, scientific, journalistic, and other purposes data, information and analyses regarding government performance. The corporation's purposes are achieved through the following objectives:

- (a) obtain information and data from the federal government and other governmental bodies
- (b) obtain information and data from persons subject to regulation by the government
- (c) compile, organize, interpret and analyze such information and make such information more readily accessible to the public, including such means as through the world wide web
- (d) make available such information, data and compilations, interpretations and analyses thereof, by license or otherwise, to non-profit organizations, libraries, scholars, colleges, universities, and other educational institutions, the news media and government officials, public interest groups, concerned citizens and other interested in government performance

High-quality information about the government-especially when easily accessible on the web-is essential for smarter oversight and better-informed public debate. Many news organizations, scholars, lawyers, public interest groups and others have benefited from this information during the reporting period.
