Part III Statement of Program Service AccomplishmentsCheck if Schedule O contains a response or note to any line in this Part III ☐1 Briefly describe the organization's mission:

GR offers academically gifted but economically deprived young women & men the chance to obtain a university education through (1) scholarships to attend a Rwandan university and extracurricular training from GR staff or (2) enrolling in GR's own "Kepler" program, which uses a pioneering skills-based approach to higher education. Both the scholarship and Kepler programs include employment counseling and internship placements.

2 Did the organization undertake any significant program services during the year which were not listed on the prior Form 990 or 990-EZ? ☒ Yes ☐ No

If "Yes," describe these new services on Schedule O.

3 Did the organization cease conducting, or make significant changes in how it conducts, any program services? ☐ Yes ☒ No

If "Yes," describe these changes on Schedule O.

4 Describe the organization's program service accomplishments for each of its three largest program services, as measured by expenses. Section 501(c)(3) and 501(c)(4) organizations are required to report the amount of grants and allocations to others, the total expenses, and revenue, if any, for each program service reported.4a (Code:) (Expenses $ 312000(est.) including grants of $ 295000(est.)) (Revenue $ 0)

During 2013, GR provided full scholarships to over 100 students to attend Rwandan universities. A GR scholarship award includes university tuition, housing, a monthly living stipend, books & healthcare. Students also received extensive English language and computer skills instruction, as well as other training programs. The scholarship program includes an internship program to enable students to acquire meaningful employment experience prior to graduation.

4b (Code:) (Expenses $ 448000(est.) including grants of $ 75000(est.)) (Revenue $ 0)

In August 2013, GR launched a pioneering alternative higher education program called "Kepler". The Kepler model focuses on developing a specific set of intellectual & practical skills that will be important to graduates' ability to find jobs and progress in their future employment. Kepler students "attend" open on-line courses from Western universities during their evenings; daytime classroom sessions, taught by GR's own staff, focus on the practical application of knowledge through individual and small group problem-solving. Intensive English language and computer skills training is also provided. The program is operated in conjunction with Southern New Hampshire University's DOE-accredited "College for America" program, which assesses the progress of Kepler students towards a U.S. associate's degree. GR enrolled 50 students in Kepler for the academic year 2013-14. Kepler students receive non-academic benefits similar to those described for the scholarship program under line 4a above. Students in both programs described above are selected through a highly competitive process that evaluates secondary school grades, performance on the national university entrance exams, relative proficiency in English, a written essay, and personal attributes. GR's support enables these talented but needy students to develop the skills needed to become future leaders.

Grants to and expenditures on behalf of both the scholarship recipients and students enrolled in the Kepler program are monitored continuously by GR's Rwanda staff. GR's Executive Director is in regular touch with the Rwanda office, monitors actual expenses against budget on a monthly basis, and visits Rwanda at least twice a year. An in-country audit is performed each year by the Rwanda office of a major international accounting firm.

Cash grants on behalf of scholarship students comprise (1) tuition payments paid directly to the universities where students are enrolled, (2) rent for GR-provided housing paid directly to the landlord, and (3) a monthly living stipend paid to each student. Cash grants on behalf of Kepler students comprise categories (2) and (3) above.

The principal component of non-cash assistance to Kepler students is the university-level training program provided directly by GR staff to those students. Other non-cash assistance, provided to both scholarship students and Kepler students, comprises healthcare (including eyecare), books and study materials, training in English-language, computer and life skills, as well as jobs counseling and internship placements.

Accounting is performed on an accrual basis. Expenses are recorded and reported at cost.
