POLITICAL ACTIVITIES	LEE develops and engages in leadership development activities for its members. Some of these activities are related to politics. LEE provides training and educational programming to its members to facilitate their continued investment and engagement with education through careers in policy, advocacy, organizing, and elected leadership. LEE helps members with their personal journey to figure out which are the education issues about which they are most passionate and in which they are most interested in engaging. Based on members' chosen career paths, LEE staff help members develop a story of self and seek leadership opportunities to affect change. Through this process, some members decide they want to pursue elected office or support those who seek elected office. If LEE members decide they want to run for elected office, LEE provides leadership coaching through LEE staff or outside consultants to engage in the political process.

form 990, part vi, section B, Line 15a & b	The compensation of the organization's top management official, the executive Director, is determined by a group of independent persons, the Board of Directors. In 2013, lee reviewed the performance of all its staff as well as its top management officials who had been in their position for at least 90 days as of June 30th. Two key elements of the staff performance review were goals and role competencies identified for that role at the creation of that role or at the beginning of the year. The 360 performance reviews included feedback from peers, managers, direct reports and partners as appropriate. Lee's annual compensation review took place in October and November 2013. In October 2013, lee established a range of compensation increases based on performance ratings (e.g. higher performers received the higher range of compensation). Finally, the lee human assets team and the executive director then reviewed each staff performance rating, assessed internal equity and agreed on that individual's 2014 compensation.
