1 Details on Database Initiative

Under the leadership of Jim Huang, we are actively building both a prospective and a retrospective database. The retrospective database has been launched and is a resounding success. The engagement of people spread around the globe an approximately 50 institutions has been simply astounding. There will be close to 8000 cases in the retrospective database once all of the cases have been cleaned and entered. This is an unprecedented resource for all of us, and an astounding example of global collaboration. The prospective database is being launched, and will be even richer. If we can support this to the same degree, it will provide yet another quantum leap forward.

2 International Staging

The thymic domain of the international staging committee has begun its work to define an official stage classification system.

3 Histologic Classification

An international multidisciplinary panel, including most of those actively engaged in the microscopic evaluation of thymic malignancies has been working for quite some time at refining histologic classification.

4 Research

Ongoing efforts to institute prospective research have been underway for some time. The background work is beginning to pay off. A major initiative is to conduct an international phase III randomized trial investigating the role of adjuvant radiotherapy in completely resected stage III tumors. Working with the International Rare Cancer Initiative (IRCI) we have secured a commitment from the cooperative oncology groups in the US (ECOG) and Europe (EORTC) and the UK to support this.
