- Improved the Office of Espoir Haitian, a sister organization, so there is space to meet and host meetings, to teach classes in the evenings and to control distribution of food
- Purchased an old school bus with seating for 40 people to transport Haitians to other parts of the island previously unreachable. Line 28: Infrastructure Projects

We worked on a water easement project to keep the runoff from the rains from destroying a community. We provided pipe and plumbing know-how to help move water from an inaccessible part of a community to a water fountain in the middle of town.

The July 2013 water project involved running pipe a few inches underground from a well on the top of a small mountain down to distribution points and cisterns in the community. Mission team members worked alongside community laborers to accomplish this project which makes clean water available to hundreds of people.

We also started construction on a simple concrete house on the hill for a needy family. Just getting the materials to the jobsite is hard work. Bags of sand or concrete must be hand carried up the mountain. We also painted and installed roofing for a small home and painted the interior and doors of the mission.

Line 29: Food Programs:

Empowering Haitians, locally called Espoir Haitien, has a significant ongoing presence in the community of Cap Haitien with the food distribution program. We support roughly 340 people's monthly calorie needs in the community. The program is organized around local churches and an AIDS patient group. Those community groups nominate their 6 poorest families to receive weekly distributions of rice and beans. In addition, English classes are offered to the children of those groups. Many of the missionaries on the July trip spent significant time working with the children of the groups involved in the feeding program. The children came to the mission center to participate in a craft, songs, bible story and snacks. The team brought Polaroid cameras and for many children, making a craft with their picture on it was a real highlight.

The people selected for the food program have changed based on the local pastor's recommendations, but necessary quantity of food has been distributed to support that many people. Prior to the rise of food costs associated with Hurricane Sandy, we were able to get to cost of a day's worth of food to be about 57 cents. The meal is not as balanced as it could be, but it does provide protein and carbs.

Line 30: Clinic

Empowering Haitians provided medicines and first aid supplies for the Espoir Haitian clinic in Bel Aire. Espoir Haitian volunteers provide immediate, local, first aid for small abrasions common from falls in the rocky environment and for burns common from the open charcoal fires. The clinic is also provides materials to help with Cholera clean up and transportation to the local hospital.

Line 31 Other Program Services

We provided funds to buy a couple of goats, and the community is breeding those goats to increase the community meat supply. Families will be selected to receive a female goat. They will give back the first female kid, but get to keep milk and additional kids. We hope this program will provide families with a sustainable source of food.

We provided school supplies for a local school; L'ecole Miste Fraternite La Violette du Cap Haiti. We have continued supporting this school, only accessible by foot, in one of the poorest neighborhoods in the area. The building is a lean-to with corrugated metal roof with no plumbing. We installed a community latrine near the school to help meet the needs of the children.

The micro lending program will start with a group that was successful in the past and then offer new loans to women connected with the churches and groups of the feeding program. The goal of this program is to help small businesses in the community grow.
