Form 990, Part III, Line 4a - Program Service Accomplishments

U.S. Program—Global Alliance for Incinerator Alternatives provided technical and strategic support, resources, and information to dozens of members and allies in the U.S. as they worked to address pressing waste issues in their communities. We continued to support the Boston Recycling Coalition in research, project development and policy planning to increase the city's recycling rate; worked with partners in Oakland, CA in an effort to increase wages and job quality for recycling workers sorting Oakland's recycling; and supported communities advocating against incinerator proposals in over a dozen U.S. cities. We maintained an active members mailing list engaging more than 200 individuals and organizations in the U.S. In addition to supporting grassroots fights, we have been working on pushing a national conversation and action around waste, justice, and climate. We convened a gathering in July 2013 that brought groups together around a shared vision of the need for zero waste with justice, and have continued to build coalitions around this bold goal. When the U.S. EPA issued new regulations regarding waste burning, we partnered with legal staff at Earthjustice to analyze the implications, develop fact sheets, and educate groups across the country about these new rules. We continued to play a leadership role in the development of the Climate Justice Alliance, and are involving our members in alliances like this one where they can share resources and play a leadership role.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4b - Program Service Accomplishments

International Program—The core of the Global Alliance for Incinerator Alternatives' network model is the ongoing movement-building process of creating an infrastructure of support for our members to build their capacity and facilitate international solidarity in response to their particular local needs and organizing efforts. India, Japan, Malaysia, Mexico, Mozambique, Nicaragua, the Philippines, South Africa, Thailand, and Uruguay, in addition to at least a dozen countries in the European Union and numerous other countries in all regions of the world. We coordinated various international and regional listserves reaching a substantial number of our 800+ global member organizations, and helped to link our members to expert resources for public events and environmental impact reviews. We also supported the founding of Zero Waste Europe, a sister network to GAIA that has legal status in the Netherlands. GAIA has also been supporting an increasing number of members who are leveraging local organizing against pollution into grassroots just transition movements and locally-rooted inclusive zero waste solutions. We organized and supported skillshares and training workshops in several countries (including China, Mexico, India, Bangladesh, France, South Africa, Philippines, and Italy, among other places), and supported the development of new case studies to add to our 2012 publication On the Road to Zero Waste, as well as the translation into Spanish and Chinese of past publications. Two GAIA members - from Italy and Colombia - won the Goldman Environmental Prize in April 2013 and we supported them in leveraging this award for increased movement-building opportunities. In the Philippines, we coordinated a project in hurricane impacted communities to promote zero waste reconstruction efforts and climate resiliency. We also continue to support local and national advocacy efforts with intergovernmental agencies for democratic policy and systems change. We participated on the official UN Environment Program (UNEP) reference group contributing to the development of solid waste management guidelines for developing countries, and our inputs contributed to greater visibility of cutting edge zero waste models and recognition of the role of the informal recycling sector in this document, as well as in the draft of the next annual report of the International Panel on Climate Change (IPCC). We also played an important role in raising awareness of the health and economic impacts of waste incineration in cement kilns, particularly with regard the EU Emissions Trading System and community impacts in Mexico, El Salvador, and India from the use of toxic and plastic waste as fuel in cement production. We brought testimony from Mexico on this issue to an event organized by allies and attended by European officials, the European Investment Bank, and climate justice groups in October 2013. We produced a policy briefing advocating that the Green Climate Fund include criteria that will limit private financial investment in false solutions, and for investment that would support local communities and economies in sound waste sector work. Our Global Day of Action leveraged the support of 325 groups in 60 countries via a joint resolution.
