1 Briefly describe the organization's mission

THE NRDC ACTION FUND'S MISSION IS TO ACHIEVE THE PASSAGE OF LEGISLATION THAT REDUCES CARBON POLLUTION, AND SUSTAINS VIBRANT COMMUNITIES FOR ALL AMERICANS. NOW IS THE TIME FOR LEADERSHIP AND ACTION FROM OUR ELECTED OFFICIALS. OUR CURRENT GOAL IS A COMPREHENSIVE CLEAR ENERGY POLICY THAT WILL IMPROVE OUR ECONOMY AND FUEL OUR FUTURE.

	(Code) (Expenses $	1,275,649	including grants of $	8,000) (Revenue $	0)
4a	One of the most significant actions by the Action Fund during this period was the creation of a new alliance with the League of Conservation Voters called LeadingGreen. LeadingGreen organizes prominent citizens who are also political donors into a network of advocates for the environment. By providing elected officials with high quality information when they need it to make decisions, LeadingGreen has become an effective tool for advancing environmental policy making in Washington and the states. The Action Fund also created a PAC, which contributes to candidates for federal political office. The NRDC Action Fund PAC also supports the environmental community's donor bundling operation known as GiveGreen, which is operated by the LCV Action Fund. GiveGreen helps to make sure that environmental champions have the financial support they deserve when they run for office.
	1. Educating the Public and Holding Policy Makers Accountable One of the Action Fund's top priorities is to tell the American people how their elected officials vote on environmental and energy issues. Too often, politicians profess concern for the environment, but cast votes that benefit polluters-counting on their voting records to remain under the radar. Using both traditional media and advanced digital techniques, the NRDC Action Fund makes sure the public knows where their elected officials stand on the issues. The NRDC Action Fund's WhoVotesDirty project used sophisticated analysis and the latest voting data to connect the dots between dirty votes and campaign contributions from fossil fuel companies. This documentation revealed a startling picture many members of Congress who voted against environmental protection took the most money from the polluters who benefited from those votes. The NRDC Action Fund created the website WhoVotesDirty.com to make it easy for the public to track elected officials. Our findings got covered in the media, further spreading the word about polluter influence in politics. The NRDC Action Fund also launched an online ad campaign - "The Cost of Climate Change. Tell the U.S. Senate. Don't Poison Our Children's Future" - to galvanize opposition to any efforts to derail President Obama's climate and clean air plan. We used original polling research that showed that focusing on children's health and childhood asthma is very effective in increasing support for pollution limits.
	2. Advocating for the Environment Much of the NRDC Action Fund's work is geared toward persuading elected officials to preserve the environment and protect public health. We identify policies that will achieve those goals, and we educate and inform lawmakers about how the policies work. The NRDC Action Fund focuses on bold measures that address climate change at the state and federal level, but we also rally to the rescue when existing environmental protections come under attack. The NRDC Action Fund draws on the policy expertise of the Natural Resources Defense Council, with which it is affiliated. NRDC is a leading environmental organization that has helped design and secure some of the most far-reaching clean air, clean water, and climate victories in the nation. Together with NRDC and other coalition partners, the NRDC Action Fund provides elected officials with the analysis they need to support effective environmental policies. One of the key advocacy tools used by the NRDC Action Fund is its extensive network of policy experts, business leaders, and other influential people who have credibility with and relationships with policy makers. Especially through the LeadingGreen alliance, the NRDC Action Fund can educate political donors, alert them quickly when a legislative issue on the environment arises, and help them make their voices heard more effectively with policy makers. At the same time, the NRDC Action Fund works with office holders to make sure they are using the best messaging on energy and public health issues and have the information they need when it comes time to vote on legislation. All of these advocacy tools were on display during several major policy fights during FY14.
	Fighting Congressional Attacks on the Environment In FY14, anti-environmental forces in Congress, led mainly by the House of Representatives, tried to weaken a range of environmental protections by slipping them in annual budget bills for the government or passing them as stand-alone special interest bills. The NRDC Action Fund joined the fight against these environmental rollbacks, and, due in part to its efforts, almost none of these attacks on our air, water, food, and communities succeeded. For example, our advocates helped stop approval of the Keystone XL pipeline in Congress by working with our connected supporters to talk directly to decision-makers about the problematic precedent and negative impact on the environment and people's health.
	Clean Air Defense The Action Fund was a partner in the successful environmental and health coalition efforts to reduce air pollution and support presidential action against climate change. Our influential network of advocates encouraged President Obama to utilize existing authority under the Clean Air Act to reduce dangerous carbon pollution from power plants and for U.S. EPA to issue rules for new and existing sources of carbon pollution that are the largest contributors to climate change. On a related note, we activated our advocate network to encourage U.S. Senators and other elected officials to publicly support President Obama's Clean Power Plan when it was released on June 2, 2014.
	California Fracking The NRDC Action Fund ran online advertising in California to solidify support for legislation that provides Californians with critical protections to out-of-control fracking. The banner ads ran on key publications in California and featured a link to an action page to allow constituents to email their state legislators.
	3. Electoral Work In order to confront the crisis of climate change, America needs more elected officials committed to passing forward-looking clean energy and climate legislation. The NRDC Action Fund helps elect those champions to office and support them when it comes time to vote for the environment. We help candidates speak persuasively on our issues, and we demonstrate that running for office on clean energy and climate action will help them win.
	Mayors Forum In Fiscal Year 2014, the NRDC Action Fund co-sponsored the New York Mayoral forum on Food, Nutrition, and Hunger. The forum aimed to get the leading candidates for mayor to explain how they would ensure New York City has a healthier, fairer, more sustainable, more affordable, and economically stronger food system.
	Political Polling The NRDC Action Fund commissioned and led opinion research projects that showed support for clean energy policies and candidates who back them. One poll focused on voter attitudes in Arkansas, Illinois, Louisiana, and New Hampshire. In addition, the NRDC Action Fund released polling from nine Senate battleground states in February 2014 that showed Americans are ready to act on climate change by reducing carbon pollution. More than two-thirds of voters (with majorities across party lines) in these states said the EPA should limit carbon pollution from power plants.
	NRDC Action Fund PAC In July 2013, the NRDC Action Fund launched a Political Action Committee (PAC) account. The NRDC Action Fund PAC makes contributions to pro-environment federal candidates from any political party and provides a support structure for the NRDC Action Fund's network of political donors. As part of the LeadingGreen alliance, the NRDC Action Fund PAC is also encouraging donors to give their political contributions through GiveGreen, a project of LCV Action Fund. Through November of 2014, GiveGreen was able to exceed its goal for the 2014 election cycle by raising nearly $6 million to support environmental champions running for office. Of the amount of money that was raised, 73 percent of it went to winning candidates, demonstrating the strategic thinking behind the initiative.

Return Reference	Explanation
Schedule C, Part I-A, Line 1	As 2013 was not an election year, these political expenditures were directed mainly toward preparation for the 2014 elections. Specifically, the Action Fund began developing narrative strategies for key U S Senate races in New Hampshire, Michigan, North Carolina, Hawaii, Colorado and Iowa. In addition, the Action Fund produced blogs and social media content highlighting candidates who were "running clean" and those who support an agenda led by the fossil fuel industry. $49,981 of the total political expenditures was spent on staff salaries (including benefits and overhead), while the remaining $54,273 was spent on discretionary expenses, including consultants, other vendors, and advertising. The total amount of political expenditures represents 7 percent of the organization's overall expenditures for the year.

Return Reference	Explanation
Form 990, Schedule D, Part XI and XII	NRDC ACTION FUND does not receive standalone financial statements, its operations are consolidated for financial reporting purposes with an affiliated organization, the Natural Resources Defense Council, Inc. Form 990, Schedule D, Part X, Line 2 The FASB Accounting Codification (ASC) established criterion that an individual tax position must meet for some or all of the benefits of that position to be recognized in an entity's financial statements. This standard requires that a tax position be recognized or derecognized based on a "more likely than not" threshold. NRDC has processes currently in place to ensure the maintenance of its tax-exempt status, to identify and report unrelated income, determine its filing and tax obligations in jurisdictions for which it has nexus, and to review other matters that may be considered a tax position. The tax years ending 2011, 2012, 2013, and 2014 remain open to audit for both federal and state purposes. This standard had no impact on NRDC's 2014 and 2013 consolidated financial statements. NRDC does not believe its 2014 and 2013 consolidated financial statements include any uncertain tax positions.
