Part III, Line 4 : Square Peg Foundation rescues horses from the racetracks and retrains the horses to be used in an adaptive riding program for physically, mentally and emotionally disabled youth. Many of the horses have been injured or suffered physical or emotional ailments. At considerable expense, Square Peg feeds, houses and cares for these horses. Some of the horses can be rehoused. Others are retrained to assist in the adaptive riding program. Some of the horses can be neither rehoused nor retrained. Sanctuary is given to these horses. Due to the triple mission of the program (with horses being a critical component for each,) it is not possible to accurately break out the expenses by mission. Total Program Related Expenses total $253,315. This includes Salaries (primarily instructors, horse/facility care) of $94,181, Occupancy: $69,429, Horse Related: $57,979, Insurance: $17,427, Auto: $5,711, Volunteer and Staff Dev. $5,573

Part III, Line 2: In F2013 Square Peg launched a job training program for young adults with disabilities. Using the ranch as the backdrop 6 employees were hired (5 young adults with disabilities and one project coordinator) to work around the ranch. The participants practiced interviewing skills, learned general job training (such as scheduling, time management), practiced management skills, etc. In exchange, they were paid a fair wage. This program earned major accolades from funders and families of the participants.
