Part II, Line 17a - 10% Facts and Circumstance Test - 2013

For the fiscal year ended June 30, 2014, the Lubbock Young Women's Leader Foundation (the Foundation) meets the "10%-facts-and-circumstances" test and qualifies as a publicly supported organization.

In order to satisfy the facts and circumstances test, an organization must meet the requirements of Treas. Reg. § 1.170A-9(f)(3)(i) and (ii), and also be in the nature of a publicly supported organization, taking into account all facts and circumstances, including the factors listed in Treas. Reg. § 1.170A-9(f)(iii)(3)(A)-(E). All of the applicable requirements are met in the Foundation's case.

(1) Treas. Reg. § 1.170A-9(f)(3)(i): An organization seeking public charity status under the facts and circumstances test must normally receive at least 10% of its support from the public. Here, the Foundation easily satisfies this requirement, as its public support has never been less than 10% since its inception in 2008.

(2) Treas. Reg. § 1.170A-9(f)(3)(ii): The second requirement for an organization to satisfy the facts and circumstances test is that the organization be organized and operated as to attract new and additional public support on a continuous basis. Under Treas. Reg. § 1.170A-9(f)(3)(ii), an organization satisfies this requirement if it maintains an ongoing program for solicitation of funds from the general public. The Foundation satisfies this requirement by its website, which continuously and actively seeks donations from the public. Moreover, a mail-in donation form is also available on the Foundation's website, and the form invites the general public to make a donation that will help will help "provide young women the academic and leadership skills necessary to achieve success in college and in life." Finally, the Foundation engages in both mail and e-mail solicitations of donations from time to time to notify selected individuals and organizations of fundraising opportunities with the Foundation.

(3) Treas. Reg. § 1.170A-9(f)(3)(iii): Finally, in addition to satisfying the two tests above, an organization is classified as a public charity so long as, based on a review of all relevant facts and circumstances, it is publicly supported. Treas. Reg. § 1.170A-9(f)(3)(iii)(A)-(E) sets forth a number of pertinent factors to be considered as part of the analysis. The regulation notes that not all factors need to be satisfied, although in this case they are.

(A) Treas. Reg. § 1.170A-9(f)(3)(iii)(A): The factor carrying the most weight is the percentage of public support received by the organization. Specifically, the higher the percentage of support above the 10% requirement, the lesser the importance of other factors. In the Foundation's case, this factor weighs heavily in its favor, as it received public support well in excess of 10% in most of its years of existence, including public support of 100% in 2008 and 32% in 2010 and 2011. Consequently, the Foundation's burden of otherwise establishing the publicly supported nature of the organization is minimal.

(B) Treas. Reg. § 1.170A-9(f)(3)(iii)(B): That an organization receives most of its support from sources other than members of a single family is evidence that the organization is publicly supported. Here, the majority of its support came from persons and organizations passionate about the Foundation's charitable purpose, not from members of a single family. It is further relevant that neither the Foundation's founders nor board members are major financial contributors, another sign that the organization is publicly supported.

(C) Treas. Reg. § 1.170A-9(f)(3)(iii)(C): An additional factor weighing in favor of an organization being publicly supported is the fact that the organization's governing body represents the broad interests of the public, rather than the private interests of a few. The Foundation's board of directors represents the broad interests of the public, as the board members have (i) special knowledge in the Foundation's field of operation and (ii) represent a broad cross-section of the views and interests of the community. More specifically, the Foundation's stated purpose is to provide enhancement funding to the Margaret Talkington School for Young Women Leaders, a single-gender public school in the Lubbock Independent School District open to female students grades six through 12 who show a commitment to leadership, education, and college attendance, most of whom are economically disadvantaged. Kitty Harris, the Foundation's president, has spent over a decade in academia, and as a result she has the special knowledge that the regulations consider evidence of an organization's status as a public charity. Also, the remaining board members, all of whom are unrelated, represent a broad cross-section of the views of the community: Christy McClendon works in commercial real estate, David Alderson is the owner of a local auto dealership, and Mark Griffin is the president of an oil and gas distribution company. These three individuals, coupled with Kitty Harris, provide a mix of views representative of the community.

(D) Treas. Reg. § 1.170A-9(f)(3)(iii)(D): The final factor is whether the organization generally provides facilities or services directly for the benefit of the general public. To the extent this factor is applicable (the Foundation does not have a facility), it points in favor of the Foundation being publicly supported. While the Foundation cannot give performances to the general public like a symphony can, the Foundation does provide services to the general public through its continued funding of the Talkington School, which is a public school open to all female students in the Lubbock Independent School District.

As set forth above, the Foundation satisfies the applicable requirements of the "10%-facts-and-circumstances" test. Accordingly, even though the Foundation did not meet the 33.3% public support test for the period July 1, 2013 to June 30, 2014, the Foundation is nevertheless appropriately classified as a public charity under Treas. Reg. § 1.170A-9(f)(3).
