	The mission of the ACS Division of Research and Optimal Patient Care (DROPC) is to improve the quality of surgical care by enabling all surgeons to apply the best scientific evidence available in all aspects of their daily practice with respect, compassion, and dignity for all patients. The DROPC promotes the practice of evidence-based surgery by developing new knowledge through basic and clinical research, the setting and verification of standards, development of best practices and guidelines, educational activities, and the collection and measurement of outcomes. The DROPC is comprised of three focus areas: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Cancer - The Commission on Cancer (COC) is a consortium of professional organizations dedicated to improving survival and quality of life for cancer patients through standard-setting, prevention, research, education, and the monitoring of comprehensive quality care. The COC accreditation program sets standards for quality, multidisciplinary cancer care delivered in more than 1,400 hospital settings in the United States and Puerto Rico. Other COC programs include the cancer physician liaison program, the national accreditation program for breast centers, and the national cancer database. 2. Trauma - The Committee on Trauma (COT) and the trauma programs staff oversee and support various didactic and experiential trauma courses, the national trauma registry, the national trauma data bank, the verification/consultation program for hospitals, the trauma system consultation program, and regional trauma organization of state/provincial activities. The COT is also active in pre-hospital trauma care, injury prevention and control, performance improvement and patient safety, rural trauma, disaster management, and outcomes studies. 3. Continuous Quality Improvement (CQI) - The DROPC's continuous Quality Improvement (QI) programs provide the infrastructure for several QI programs, as well as for conducting health services research, clinical research, laboratory research, meta-analyses, clinical trials, outcome studies, research hypothesis generation, and the development of evidence-based practice guidelines. 	Educational Programs - The college's educational programs help meet the needs of surgeons, surgery residents, medical students and patients. The programs provide surgeons with opportunities for maintenance of certification, for lifelong learning, and for meeting the core competencies. In addition to providing continuing medical education activities, the division of education has developed patient educational materials relative to surgical care. Division efforts include staffing numerous education committees and the following programs. The ACS Clinical Congress is an annual educational conference for surgeons, including four days of lectures, panel sessions, postgraduate courses, presentations of scientific papers and research, video-based education sessions, and other educational activities. In October 2014, attendance at the clinical congress included over 10,000 physicians. The publication, Selected Readings in General Surgery (SRGS), provides a broad, topic-oriented analysis of the current surgical literature and is available in print, online and CD-ROM formats. SRGS reviews the entire specialty of surgery every two to three years for surgery residents and practicing surgeons, and has approximately 2,800 - 3,000 subscribers. The web-based program entitled Fundamentals of Laparoscopic Surgery (FLS) is a joint program of the American College of Surgeons and the Society of American Gastrointestinal and Endoscopic Surgeons (SAGES). FLS is a comprehensive education module designed to teach and assess proficiency in the domains of physiology, fundamental knowledge, and technical skills required for basic laparoscopic surgery. The program was distributed to over 1,500 surgery residents, fellows, and practicing surgeons during the past fiscal year.

The College has an executive compensation committee as a subcommittee to the finance committee. The committee is comprised of the Board of Regents Chair, Board of Regents Treasurer, Board of Governors Secretary, and a member of the finance committee. The executive compensation committee's purpose is as follows: to establish procedures to create a "rebuttable presumption of reasonableness" in connection with IRS intermediate sanctions regulations. Responsibilities are to ensure that compensation for each "disqualified person" is reasonable. Human Resources provides comparability data to the committee in the form of surveys, other similar organizations, geographical comparisons, and actual written offers from similar institutions for the services of a disqualified person. The committee documents the basis for all compensation determinations.
