Rebecca Ward

Reinventing the Broadway Theatre in Cape Girardeau, Mississippi

Ms. Ward received a Richard L. Blinder Award for Architecture to create an action plan for the revitalization of the now-vacant Broadway Theater, a historic vaudeville theater that opened in 1921 in Cape Girardeau, Missouri. Following the completion of a site assessment, Ms. Ward will engage the local community in their vision for the future of the theater, hoping to create a major catalytic impact on the downtown's revitalization, restoring a sense of place.

Total grant amount: $15,000

Paid in 2014: $3,750

Amanda Schachter & Alexander Levi

*Bronx River Right-of-Way: Reclaiming Cass Gilbert's Westchester Avenue Station for the Waterfront
Part II: 2013 & 2014*

Ms. Schachter and Mr. Levi (previously the recipients of the 2011 Blinder Award) have received Fitch mid-career funding to expand upon their project studying the reuse and rehabilitation of the Westchester Avenue Train Station in the Bronx, an abandoned hundred-year-old train station designed by Cass Gilbert.

Total grant amount: $5,000

Paid in 2014: $1,667

Beatriz del Cueto

Concrete Block and Hydraulic Cement Floor Tile in the Tropics

Ms. del Cueto's grant has enabled her to survey and explore the use of highly ornamental hollow-core concrete block and hydraulic cement floor tile and mosaics used in tropical architecture during the early 20th century. Focusing on Puerto Rico, Cuba and the Dominican Republic, Ms. del Cueto's travel to her area of focus was supported by Fitch funding.

Total grant amount: $14,985

Paid in 2014: $9,990

Adrian Scott Fine

Picking Up the Pieces: Preserving Urban Renewal's Modern Legacy

Mr. Fine's project will discuss the debate now taking shape across the country about what to do with the modern era buildings and landscapes of the controversial period of Urban Renewal during the 1960s and 70s. Through a series of case studies, interviews with community and thought leaders, and using emerging best practices, Mr. Fine will provide a basis for better understanding these places and how to approach them through a preservation perspective.

Total grant amount: $9,700

Paid in 2014: $3,233

2013 James Marston Fitch Foundation Grantees

Edgar Garcia

$7,500

The Architecture and Design Legacy of the Chicano Movement: 1966-1985

Mr. Garcia will document and explore the premise of a “Chicano Style” identified with the unexplored architectural and design contributions of the Chicano Movement. Drawing upon the rich cultural and artistic legacy of Mexico and Southwestern United States, Mexican-American artists and designers rediscovered this rich source of visual artistic precedent to express a reinvigorated cultural identity. Influences from Pre-Columbian art, the Mexican Muralists Movement of the 1920s, and inner city street culture were reinterpreted into a distinctive Chicano aesthetic. Research findings will be disseminated through an active blog and website and through an electronic exhibition.

Mandy Metcalf

$14,800

Putting Historic Preservation on the Map: Right-Sizing Cleveland

“Right-Sizing” is being used to describe the planned shrinking of cities in the face of declining population and the problems of vacancy and foreclosure. The City of Cleveland has faced these problems with widespread demolitions and programs to recapture vacant land as community amenities. Ms. Metcalf proposes to map the extent to which historic preservation is or is not being considered in the planned right-sizing of Cleveland and to develop a rapid mapping tool to identify unrecognized pocket historic areas.

Allan Shearer

$3,880

Mid-Twentieth Century Modernism and the Invention of Microclimate:

Contributions of James Marston Fitch and Helmut Landsberg to Building-Body

Relationships

Professor Shearer will examine the emergence and rapid adoption of "microclimate" in design theory and practice in mid-twentieth century America. During this time, relationships between site and sense of self were brought closer together through a newly appreciated ability to alter the localized climate in and around the home. While many individuals participated in this widespread effort, two individuals were especially important in this environmental design movement: the architectural critic, journal editor, and preservationist James Marston Fitch and the climatologist Helmut Landsberg.

2012 James Marston Fitch Foundation Grantees

Thomas J. Campanella

Designing the American City: The Public Works Legacy of Clarke and Rapuano.

In 2012, Thomas Campanella received a Mid-Career Grant in support of professional field photography related to the writing and production of a book about the American landscape architects Gilmore D. Clarke and Michael Rapuano. The book will be published by Yale University Press in 2014.

Total grant amount: $3,500

Paid in 2012: $1,750

James O'Day

Continuum of Classicism □ Edward Godfrey Lawson's Photographs and Drawings of Italian Renaissance Gardens and His Contribution to American Landscape Architecture, 1915-1918

In 2012, James O'Day received a Kress Mid-Career Grant in support of this project to collect historic data to conduct a quantitative and qualitative analysis of Edward Godfrey Lawson's designs, photographs, artwork, and professional writings; to produce an electronically published article underscoring Lawson's professional contributions as an educator and practitioner, interpreting his role in shaping the tenets of American landscape architecture; and to produce a digitally re-mastered compendium of Lawson's historic photographs and illustrative artwork to be electronically published for educational and research purposes, serving as a companion piece to the forenamed article.

Total grant amount: $15,000

Paid in 2012: $10,000

Daniel Serda

Nuestra Herencia Americana (Our American Heritage): Challenges and Opportunities for Historic Preservation in America's Latino Communities

Daniel Serda received a 2012 Mid-Career Grant in support of professional field photography for his project to develop an illustrated manuscript for publication documenting challenges to the preservation of Hispanic American Historic Places throughout the United States, along with the potential for historic preservation to be utilized as a development tool in vital immigrant communities.

Total grant amount: $11,500

Paid in 2012: $3,833

2009 James Marston Fitch Charitable Foundation Grantees

This year, the Fitch Foundation will award two grants to three individuals. While the projects vary in topic and scope, the Board believes that in their unique way, each tackles subjects that are much discussed in the field today.

Ned Kauffman, Intangible Cultural Heritage: Identifying and Protecting the Intangible Dimensions of Buildings, Sites and Places $5000:

Kauffman will attend the ICOMOS International Scientific Committee on Intangible Heritage meetings in Dublin from October 26-31, 2010 using a portion of the grant to cover airfare, food, and lodging for 6 nights. Between now and then he will work with Marilyn Truscott, Chairman of the Committee, as one of a small group of people developing the agenda for discussion. Following the meetings Kauffman will continue to work as part of a core group on follow-up projects which as of now are expected to include: development of an online series of articles and case studies; development of a formal ICOMOS statement on intangible heritage; and organization of a 2011 conference on intangible heritage. Kauffman will contribute a short article to the online series.

Laura Blokker and Heather Knight:

Louisiana's Bousillage Tradition: Investigation of Past Techniques for Future Practice, $10,000

Blokker-Knight's project addresses the Colonial building technique of bousillage, which was used in Creole and Arcadian Louisiana during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries. Based on the European tradition but adapted to the new world climate, bousillage is a multi-cultural building tradition that has had very few published comprehensive studies. Blokker and Knight propose to publish such a report: one that will combine materials analysis with oral history, field studies, trials and mock-ups and will outline next steps for a professional primer. They will present their findings at conferences next year.

The James Marston Fitch Charitable Foundation announces our inaugural Richard Blinder Award, as well as our latest Mid-Career Grant Award.

New York, April 28, 2008 – John H. Stubbs, Chair of the James Marston Fitch Charitable Foundation, announced on behalf of the Foundation's trustees the inaugural Richard Blinder Award and latest Fitch Mid-Career Grant Award. "The Foundation is delighted to award our first-ever Richard Blinder Award, in memory of our late Trustee, Richard Blinder, in addition to our latest Fitch Mid-Career Grant," stated Stubbs.

David Owen Tryba, FAIA, received the Richard Blinder Award for his proposal, Denver's Civic Center Park. David Tryba is Founding Principal of the firm, David Owen Tryba Architects, with a design philosophy grounded in modern contextual urbanism and the respect for historic context while using modernist design techniques.

Mr. Tryba's Denver's Civic Center Park project will document the process of achieving consensus to relocate the Colorado Historical Society and Museum within Denver's Civic Center Park. While bringing together diverse constituencies to site the Historical Society, History Museum, and Stephen H. Hart Reading Room within Civic Center Park, Mr. Tryba will document and illustrate how he builds support among these groups and the processes he employs. This documentation will provide guidance and insight to other cultural institutions contemplating the marriage of a new structure with a historic building within a beloved historic landscape.

The Richard Blinder Award is generously underwritten by Beyer Blinder Belle, Mrs. Richard Blinder, and donations made to the Fitch Foundation in memory of Richard Blinder.

Kirk Huffaker received the Fitch Mid-Career Grant Award for his proposal, The Architecture of W.A. Sarmiento: Defining Downtown Banks at Mid-Century. Mr. Huffaker is Executive Director of Utah Heritage Foundation and actively involved with the Recent Past Preservation Network.

Mr. Huffaker's project will include research and photography of prominent bank architect W.A. Sarmiento's work throughout the United States. As Director of Design for the Bank Building and Equipment Corporation (BBC) from 1954-1965, Sarmiento helped the BBC to become the largest bank designer in the United States. Sarmiento's innovative design strategies and use of cutting-edge building techniques brought the best of mid-century modern architecture to Main Street. First Security Bank in Salt Lake City, Utah, designed by Sarmiento in 1955, was saved from demolition by the Utah Heritage Foundation and received a National Honor Award from the National Trust for Historic Preservation for its rehabilitation in 2006.

The James Marston Fitch Charitable Foundation, founded in 1988, was established to recognize the unique contribution of Dr. Fitch to the field of historic preservation in the United States. The purpose of the foundation is to advance the study and practice of preservation by supporting preservation endeavors through a research grant program as well as publications, seminars and lectures.

MID-CAREER GRANT PROGRAMGoals and Objectives

The James Marston Fitch Charitable Foundation, Inc. (the "Foundation") is being established in recognition of the unique contribution of Dr. Fitch to historic preservation in the United States. Its purpose is to advance the study and the practice of the preservation of the historic architectural heritage in the United States. The Foundation advances and supports preservation through a special research grant program as well as through such educational activities as seminars and lectures.

Mid-Career Grant Program

The Foundation will provide annual research grants in historic preservation to mid-career professionals. The grants are intended to support innovative original research and creative design which advance the practice of preservation. Projects must demonstrate usefulness to practitioners and the results must be in publishable form. The grants are to be regarded as incentives for innovative work rather than as a prize for past accomplishments.

Eligibility

Grants will be available to qualified mid-career professionals with established backgrounds in historic preservation or related fields. Candidates must have an advanced or professional degree and 10 years professional experience in historic preservation or in related fields such as architecture, landscape architecture, urban design, planning, law, engineering, archaeology, architectural history and the decorative arts. The project must be relevant and useful to the preservation community in the United States. The Foundation will not discriminate based on race, sex, ethnicity, age, religion, disability or sexual orientation.

Application Process

An announcement of the grant program will be made each year. Approximately seven (7) months before the application is due, a press release describing the Foundation, its goals, and the requirements of the grant program and application will be mailed to approximately two dozen publications in the United States specializing in the field of historic preservation, architecture, architectural history, and related fields as well as to all existing university programs in historic preservation. The announcement will describe the criteria for selection, the details for the proposals and the submission deadline for that year. The administrator's name and the Foundation's address and telephone number will be given in the announcement.

Proposal Requirements

Applicants will be required to submit three (3) copies of their proposals. The proposal must contain: a brief description of the project and the work product, not to exceed three (3) pages; a schedule of work and budget showing how the grant money will be applied; a curriculum vita, including professional and academic background and past and present grants received; and, two (2) letters of support for the project.

Criteria for Selection

- demonstrated need for the proposed study and evidence of its value to the preservation community in the United States
- background, qualifications and professional experience of the applicant
- feasibility of the proposed research, work product, schedule and budget
- complete submittal of all of the requirements

Selection Process

The administrator will answer all inquiries by mail and telephone. No applications will be considered which arrive in person after, or are postmarked after, the deadline stated in the grant announcement. As applications are received, the administrator will log them in and hold them until all the applications are received. The administrator then sends the applications to the Board members and makes sure that everyone has had at least two weeks to review them.

All members of the Board of Directors will review each of the applications and grade them privately, using the letters A, B, C, F, and Does Not Apply. The applications are discussed at a special grant review Board meeting. If it is clear that there will not be a quorum, the meeting date will be rescheduled until a time when there will be a quorum. Board members will discuss each application in that meeting. When a Board member cannot attend, the member will have the option to hand in his or her grading sheet, which is consulted during the discussion at the Board meeting. Members can also consult by telephone. As a result of the discussions, the applications are narrowed to approximately ten (10). At the end of the discussion, the Board members present at the meeting vote to determine who will be awarded the grant(s).

Grant Award

The recipient(s) will be notified by mail. The main award will be divided into four (4) equal payments, to be made by check to the awardee. The first payment is upon award of the grant. Progress reports are required for the second and third payments. The final payment will be made only after the final report is submitted and approved. Projects are required to be completed within twelve (12) months of the grant award, except when an extension is approved by the Board of Directors. A Board member will be assigned to follow the progress of the awardee and to review and approve the progress reports and the final report, in consultation with the administrator and the chairperson.

Final and completed studies are required to consist of one complete original with appropriate illustrations and two complete copies. The Foundation requires that its grant is acknowledged in all publications and reserves the right to publish the results if it chooses to do so. Proper credit will be given to the author/recipient.
