Statement of Program Service Accomplishments

Check if Schedule O contains a response or note to any line in this Part III

1

Briefly describe the organization's mission

Global Blood Fund works with low and middle-income countries to ensure a safe and sufficient blood supply for all. This is achieved through the provision of training, equipment, grants and other forms of support, with a particular focus on engaging local citizens in voluntary non-remunerated blood donation. Voluntary Non-Remunerated Blood Donation (VNRBD) is recognized, by the World Health Organization and others, as the most cost-effective way to prevent the thousands of deaths that result each year from blood shortages. It also helps mitigate the transmission of infections, such as HIV, that can be contracted through blood transfusion and devastate lives and families.

2

Did the organization undertake any significant program services during the year which were not listed on the prior Form 990 or 990-EZ?

☒ Yes ☐ No

If "Yes," describe these new services on Schedule O.

3

Did the organization cease conducting, or make significant changes in how it conducts, any program services?

☒ Yes ☐ No

If "Yes," describe these changes on Schedule O.

4

Describe the organization's program service accomplishments for each of its three largest program services, as measured by expenses. Section 501(c)(3) and 501(c)(4) organizations are required to report the amount of grants and allocations to others, the total expenses, and revenue, if any, for each program service reported.

4a

(Code) (Expenses $ 46,624 including grants of $) (Revenue $)

GBF is regularly offered used equipment by blood centers in the U.S. and Europe. This often becomes available as a consequence of routine upgrade programs that leave still-serviceable equipment surplus to local requirements. Historically, the charity manually attempted to place this with blood services in Africa and elsewhere where contacts exist and where it might be anticipated this would add value to operations. To bring greater rigor to this program and to expand its reach to both donors and recipients, in 2013 GBF developed EqXchange, a cloud-based portal to provide for the global exchange of information on availability and need. During 2014, in excess of $500,000 of equipment (at used value, using the methodology published on GBF's website) was rehomed to in-need blood services. Examples of items included portable donation beds, apheresis technology and donation scales/mixers. Recipient countries included Nigeria, Rwanda, Tanzania, Lebanon and Mexico.

4b

(Code) (Expenses $ 27,374 including grants of $ 6,950) (Revenue $)

Non-equipment-based support also formed a component of GBF's overall package of charitable activity. Multiple donations were made under GBF's Small Grants Program. Beneficiaries included Ghana, Kenya, Tanzania, Zambia and Uganda. GBF provided support to regional professional associations. For example, GBF sponsored a subject-matter expert speaker to attend the Biennial Congress of the Africa Society for Blood Transfusion (AfSBT) in Zimbabwe. The speaker was able to share with an African audience insights into how Nicaragua in Latin America achieved 100% voluntary non-remunerated donation and in this way "cross-pollinate" international best practice. GBF also worked with AfSBT in organizing a pan-African story contest, "The Wonder of Blood, Saving Lives in Africa", which successfully generated narrative from those impacted by blood donation or transfusion to help better communicate the challenges of blood collection in that continent. This was inaugurated as an annual event.

4c

(Code) (Expenses $ 20,424 including grants of $) (Revenue $)

GBF's "Open Arms" program gives blood centers across the US (and in other parts of the world) an opportunity to offer their (blood) donors a charitable alternative to the usual recognition items of printed T-shirts, etc. This program creates a virtuous circle of activity - improving donor choice, motivating collection staff, saving blood center money, providing a diversity platform to encourage donation from minority communities and providing resources for international development work in an area of interest to all parties. During 2014 the number of blood centers engaged in Open Arms expanded, with new partners including New York Blood Center and Stanford Blood Center. Operationalizing declared support at arms-length from complex organizations continues to present challenges, but progress was made in engaging partners at multiple levels with their structure, for example through the provision of relevant communication materials.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS

PART III, Lines 2 and 3 Global Blood Fund's (GBF) activity remained mission-centric during 2014, but broadened and deepened in terms of transaction count, geographic regions supported and partners engaged. Whilst still focused on grass-roots interventions supporting blood collectors, GBF initiated a collaborative industry response to the West African Ebola Virus Disease (EVD) crisis, specifically, establishing a center of excellence in apheresis practice in Ghana. Whilst primarily focused on enabling the collection of convalescent plasma as a treatment for EVD, this initiative, GERRI (Ghanaian Ebola Readiness and Resilience Initiative), has a number of spin-off benefits, for example, enabling therapeutic treatments. This project provides a broader range of charitable benefits than has in the past been the case, impacting on patient, not just donor welfare. A core service capability, EqXchange, was impacted by supplier issues during 2014. EqXchange is a cloud-based platform enabling blood services worldwide to list (usually surplus) equipment available for donation. In addition to viewing and responding to offers, the system offers blood services in low-income countries the ability to list their specific requirements, which may be equipment oriented or focused on seeking the donation of skills or expertise from more developed organizations. The contract development and hosting organization liquidated this aspect of their business operation in the final quarter of 2014, necessitating that GBF identify and contract with a new supplier and develop a new portal. This was not achieved by the year end, although a temporary solution provided basic functionality to users whilst new programming was commissioned, which is expected to be delivered in Quarter 2 of 2015.

Individuals considering a transaction shall appoint a disinterested person to investigate alternative to the proposed transaction. If a more advantageous transaction or arrangement is not reasonably attainable under the circumstances that would not give rise to a conflict of interest, the board or committee shall determine, by a majority vote of the disinterested trustees, whether the transaction or arrangement is in the best interest of the organization and whether the transaction is fair to the organization. Each trustee, officer, and member of a committee with board delegated powers shall annually sign a statement which affirms that such a person has received a copy of the conflicts of interest policy, has read and understands the policy, has agreed to comply with the policy, and understands that the organization is a charitable organization and that in order to maintain its federal tax exemption, it must engage primarily in activities which accomplish one or more of its tax-exempt purposes. If the board or the committee has reasonable cause to believe that an interested person has failed to disclose a conflict of interest as required by this policy, the board or committee shall inquire, investigate and take appropriate disciplinary and corrective action, as necessary.

Program Service Accomplishments	PART III, LINE 4D Much of GBF's activity relates to its ability to galvanize networks in the U S and Europe (national and regional blood services, industry suppliers, regulatory bodies, etc) to assist developing blood collection organizations Working both directly and through pan-national and professional associations, GBF is able to pull together multi-agency collaborations, with objectives and configurations differing by project In early 2014, GBF signed a formal partnership agreement with AABB (formerly the American Association of Blood Banks, arguably the world's pre-eminent professional organization in this field) In addition to enhanced credibility, this provides GBF with access to expertise and resource to help further its mission Other partnerships developed in 2014 assist different aspects of GBF's charitable operations for example, a relationship with National Bus Sales saw GBF offered discounted bloodmobiles for purchase and placement in poorly resourced blood services
