Form 990, Part III, Line 4a: During 2014 the Philos Project launched to promote positive Christian engagement in the Middle East. The organization acquired office space, hired staff, and established an online presence to communicate its position to the world. The Philos Project participated in the Common Ground Christian Network which is a gathering that represents denominational leaders from 15 different Christian denominations and para-church organizations. The organization prepared for and was a primary sponsor of the Catalyst Conference in Dallas which is one of the largest gatherings of Christian leaders in the country and through the organizations participation engaged over 2500 participants. The Philos Project held a documentary film planning meeting with producers and director. The organization participated in the Museum of the Bible gathering with over 500 Christian leaders from across the mid-West. The organization had a meeting with key Christian leaders in Washington DC and prepared for a gathering in Dallas, Texas with 12 Christian leaders for a conversation on how to positively engage the Middle East. The Philos Project travelled to Southern Florida to meet with a key Hispanic Christian Leader. The partnership that developed from that meeting led to the organization's involvement in the launch of the largest Hispanic pro-Israel organization in the US. That organization includes over 40,000 churches and millions of members. The organization selected an individual for the first Philos Project Fellowship which heads the Iraqi Christian Relief Council which provides relief services to refugees in Iraq and Syria.
