For the first time in our nation's history, demographers project that children will live shorter lives than their parents and face a declining standard of living. Every day, the YMCA helps young people deepen positive values, their commitment to service and their motivation to learn. YMCA programs offer a range of experience that enrich a child's cognitive, social, physical and emotional growth. Expenses include subsidies and direct financial assistance that enable many of our young people to participate.

Health and Well-being for All

At a time when 17 percent of children and nearly two-thirds of adults are classified as obese, the YMCA provides people with the supportive relationships and environments they need for their successful pursuit of health and well-being in spirit, mind and body. Men, women and children of all ages, faiths, backgrounds, abilities and income levels improve health and well-being at the YMCA. In 2014, we provided $184,000 in financial assistance to overcome economic barriers for participation.

The YMCA of Columbia's mission is to put Christian principles into practice through programs that build healthy spirit, mind and body for all. Staff and volunteers include the promotion of the organization's five core values of Caring, Honesty, Respect, Responsibility, and Faith as an integral part of all programming.

The YMCA of Columbia is a fellowship of people, both members and participants, whose purpose is to enhance the lives of individuals, families, and community groups through programs. We offer equitable access to all who desire to join us in achievement of this purpose without regard to age, gender, income, national origin, disability, race, creed, or religion.

The Metropolitan Board of Directors of the YMCA of Columbia consists of 13 individuals representing local business, governmental agencies, and a variety of professions. Collectively, they support the YMCA's goals to enhance the lives of individuals, families, and community groups through programs, and they place service to children as the highest priority. They have formally declared that all children will be included in YMCA programs, regardless of ability to pay.

The YMCA of Columbia believes strong families are the foundation of strong communities. The Y's commitment to families grows from its commitment to children and youth. It seeks to help families with opportunities to be active and play together, with children's enrichment programs that encourage growth in spirit, mind and body while connecting parents to other families and to community resources. The YMCA embraces the premise that
