The Houston Zoos Wildlife Conservation Program was initiated in 2004 to facilitate leadership in conservation efforts related to the survival of threatened wildlife, the heavy use of natural resources, and the appreciation of our natural world. As of fiscal year 2014, we currently support 25 projects in 14 countries around the world including the U.S. Accordingly, the Houston Zoo has committed 5% of its annual operating budget to support this program, which compares favorably with other zoos, most of which do not make such substantial commitments to conservation from their operating budget. The Houston Zoo recognizes the need to work both close to home, supporting a number of wildlife reintroduction projects right here in Texas, both also across the globe where we support critical efforts to support elephant, cheetah, rhino and chimpanzee conservation efforts. These programs quite often focus as much on the human communities. We believe conservation is not just about saving species but about improving the lives of the local communities so they see the benefits of sustainable harvesting. Holistic programs that have economic incentives and cultural sensitivity are the only way that local communities will buy into conservation initiatives. Through partnerships with local, national, and international conservation agencies and non-governmental organizations (NGOs), such as the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, the Texas Nature Conservancy, and the Association of Zoos and Aquariums (AZA), the Houston Zoo actively participates in programs designed to protect both animals and their natural habitats worldwide.

Grantmaker's Description of How Grants are Used	The Houston Zoo's selection standards for awarding grants are based on our mission statement goals and long term development of regional programs We do not solicit proposals nor do we have a formal process for receiving and evaluating grant requests Instead we actively seek out projects that fit in with the areas of interest to the Zoo and its staff We then meet with the researchers to see how well they would fit with our zoo We never spend much money up front until we are satisfied that they will communicate and interact with the zoo (web, media, reports, speaker requests, articles, etc) and their program is sustainable over the next 1-3 years we intend to partner with them We monitor their progress through periodic site visits where practicable and request that they provide periodic reports of activities

Form 990, Part VI, Line 12c Explanation of Monitoring and Enforcement of Conflicts	The Zoo's Board of Directors has a conflict of interest policy to ensure that both the Zoo and its directors and officers are protected from concerns of conflict of interest.
