Since Selah was founded in 2000, then as the Steamboat Springs Pregnancy Resource Center, thousands of clients have received education, support, peer counseling, and material resources in a compassionate setting. In a situation that feels like a crisis, what every person needs most is a safe place to get straight answers, a place just to breathe and to start to sort out a plan for how to proceed. Selah believes that each of our neighbors should not just survive the crisis but should thrive and enjoy healthy futures. With generous community support, Selah's services are available at no cost to clients. Services include medical programs to diagnose pregnancy, education programs to support pregnant women, parents, and families to succeed as prudent parents, and whole-person development programs for young people, teaching them skills for healthy relationships as well as vision-casting for their futures. Selah's staff, comprised of five employees and dozens of volunteers, provide mentoring and advocacy for each client, in a highly customized and interactive format that is focused on holistic health and personal referrals for each individual. Additionally, Selah offers post-abortion support and pre- and post-adoption support. Selah is a place where every story is heard and every life has value.
