Return Reference	Explanation
Part IV, Line 1b Why is organization an agent, trustee, custodian or other intermediary for contrib	The Credit Union sells first mortgage loans to others with servicing retained. The custodial escrow accounts related to these mortgage loans are not included in the Credit Union's financial statements.
Part IV, Line 2b Explanation of escrow account liability	The Credit Union services first mortgage loans held in its own portfolio. The custodial escrow accounts related to these mortgage loans are included in the Credit Union's financial statements, and are reported as an escrow liability.
Part X FIN48 Footnote	The Credit Union is exempt, by statute, from federal and state income taxes. The Credit Union is a state-chartered credit union described in Internal Revenue Code (IRC) Section 501(c)(14). As such, the Credit Union is exempt from federal taxation of income derived from the performance of activities that are in furtherance of its exempt purposes. However, IRC Section 511 imposes a tax on the unrelated business income (as defined in Section 512) derived by state-chartered credit unions. Many states have similar laws. The specific application of Section 512 to the various activities conducted by state-chartered credit unions has been an issue for many years. During 2007, the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) issued a series of Technical Advice Memoranda (TAM) to a number of state-chartered credit unions located throughout the country. In these TAMs, the IRS ruled certain products and services to be subject to taxation as unrelated business income. In light of the TAMs, the Credit Union has assessed its activities and any potential federal or state income tax liability. Management has determined that no liability exists from federal or state taxation of activities deemed to be unrelated to its exempt purpose. FASB ASC Topic 740, Income Taxes, provides guidance for how uncertain tax positions should be recognized, measured, disclosed and presented in the consolidated financial statements. This requires the evaluation of tax positions taken or expected to be taken in the course of preparing the Credit Union's tax returns to determine whether the tax positions are more likely than not to be sustained "when challenged" or "when examined" by the applicable tax authority. Tax positions not deemed to meet the more-likely-than-not threshold would be recorded as a tax expense and liability in the current year. For the year ended December 31, 2014, management has determined that there are no material uncertain tax positions.

Client Note 1	Client Note 1 - UBIT REPORTING In May 2009, a federal court jury in Wisconsin ruled in the Community First Credit Union case that credit life and disability insurance and GAP insurance coverage made available to member-borrowers by Community First Credit Union of Appleton, Wisconsin were "substantially related" to Community First's tax exempt purpose. The court granted a tax refund to Community First based on the jury's verdict, confirming that credit insurance and GAP were not subject to the unrelated business income tax (UBIT). The IRS did not appeal the case. In November 2009, in the Belco Credit Union case, the U.S. District Court in Colorado ruled that commissions received by Belco Credit Union of Greenwood Village, Colorado from the sale of financial products to Belco members, were not subject to UBIT. The court ruled that the sale of those financial products to Belco members was "substantially related" to Belco's tax-exempt purpose of promoting thrift among its members, and the resulting income was exempt from UBIT. In April 2010, the court in Colorado issued its second and final decision in the Belco Credit Union case, holding that (i) credit life and disability insurance was "substantially related" to Belco's tax-exempt purpose of promoting thrift among its members, and (ii) Belco income from AD&D insurance sold to members by an independent marketing company, where Belco was essentially limited to allowing use of its name and brand, providing member contact information, and reviewing and approving (but not creating) the marketing materials, represented passive "royalty" income exempt from UBIT. On October 19, 2010 the U.S. Department of Justice abandoned its plan to appeal the federal judge's favorable credit union rulings in the Belco case. The decisions in these court cases are now definitive statements of the law, are not subject to further review, and provide "substantial authority" that income from the sale of credit life and disability insurance, GAP coverage, financial products sold to credit union members, and AD&D insurance sold via direct mail is exempt from UBIT. As such, for 2013, Public Service Credit Union is not reporting these income sources as subject to UBIT, but is filing a 2013 Form 990-T to report income from other insurance products and non-member ATM fees.
