Part V - Additional Information

Nearly all the support outside the United States is directed to agencies of the Seventh-day Adventist Church. The Church operates in most of the nations that Gospel Outreach desires to be the object of its mission: To introduce people to Jesus in the 10/40 "window" region of earth. Since the funds are in control of the local Adventist organization, Gospel Outreach relies principally upon the local administrators to supervise the use and disbursement of these funds.

However, there are formal agreements with each "mission" or entity with which Gospel Outreach is associated, and quarterly financial and progress reports are required from the local organizations before additional funds are advanced. These reports are required by a memorandum of agreement and are filed and maintained within the Gospel Outreach office.

In addition, Gospel Outreach has seventeen "regional directors". These individuals are in constant contact with the missions assigned to them. They are to make a trip to their area of responsibility at least once each year to evaluate the effectiveness of the local SDA management team reponsible for the administration of its local area. Reports are made to Gospel Outreach by the regional directors and these reports are on file. In addition, each director is urged to make a video report that is broadcast to the donor viewing audience. These video programs are broadcast on a number of nationally viewed TV broadcast stations or cable, as the case might be.

The regional directors are selected by management, and are serving as volunteers, along with the rest of administrative management team. Many of these individuals are supervising the very area where they once were employed by the SDA church and are able to speak the local languages.
