Return Reference	Explanation
Part X FIN48 Footnote	The Center for Human Services is exempt from Federal and California taxation on income under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code and Section 23701(d) of the California Revenue and Taxation Code. Accordingly, no provision for income taxes has been included in the accompanying financial statements. Center for Human Services has accounted for uncertainty in income taxes as required by the Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes topic of the FASB Accounting Standards Codification. Center for Human Services uses a comprehensive model for recognizing, and measuring, presenting and disclosing in the financial statements tax positions taken or expected to be taken on a tax return. A tax position is recognized as a benefit only if it is "more likely than not" that the tax position would be sustained in a tax examination, with a tax examination being presumed to occur. The amount recognized is the largest amount of tax benefit that is greater than 50% likely of being realized on examination. For tax positions not meeting the "more likely than not" test, no tax benefit is recorded. The effect of applying this model and the resulting identification of uncertain tax positions, if any, were not considered significant for financial reporting purposes.

Form 990, Part VI, Line 12c Explanation of Monitoring and Enforcement of Conflicts	Center for Human Services (CHS) has specific written policies for monitoring potential or actual conflicts of interest. Persons covered under the policy include any employee or volunteer (Board Members) with decision making authority. For volunteers (Board Members), the executive committee of the board determines whether a conflict exists. For employees, the executive director makes the final decision. Employees update their conflict of interest disclosure statement annually as do volunteers. Actual conflicts are reviewed by the Board of Directors, Executive Committee for Volunteers and by the executive director and members of the senior management team for employees. The Board executive committee reviews any actual or potential conflict involving the executive director. Certain restrictions may be applied, depending on the actual conflict for both volunteers and employees. Restrictions could include prohibiting participation in board deliberations and transactions and for employees prohibiting participation at identified meetings, etc.
