Immigration status is directly linked with economic well-being Immigrants and their children make up nearly half of those living in poverty in New York City - more than 800,000 people - and non-citizens experience poverty at much higher rates than the city overall Detention and deportation practices have exacerbated these challenges Between 2005 and 2010, the parents of over 7,000 U S -citizen children in New York City were deported and over 10,000 were detained without bond, resulting in significant hardship and emotional trauma Legal assistance provided by lawyers or trained legal advocates is the most direct intervention available to help lift immigrant families out of poverty Legal assistance can facilitate immigrants' transition to valid legal status, which enables them to obtain lawful employment, receive financial aid and in-state tuition to attend school (thus improving their earning potential), access health insurance and, if necessary, obtain temporary benefits such as food and income supports Preventing detention and deportation keeps immigrant children from being funneled into foster care or suffering the educational and health complications of family separation IJC recruits talented lawyers and college graduates from around the country and places them at New York's leading non-profit legal services providers and community-based organizations Two types of fellowships are provided Justice Fellows are recent law school graduates who handle complex immigration cases, dealing with removal defense, asylum, Violence Against Women Act (VAWA), and Special Immigrant Juvenile Status (SIJS) Community Fellows are recent college graduates who conduct outreach and legal intake in underserved neighborhoods, and file applications for citizenship, green cards, and Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals (DACA), under the direct supervision of IJC staff attorneys Fifty Justice Fellows and twenty Community Fellows are working with thirty non-profit organizations all servicing New York City and its surrounding counties For a year IJC has sent each of our fellows to south Texas for a two-week rotation There they represent mothers and children who are jailed by the Obama administration while their asylum claims are being processed They have no right to legal representation, and most will be unrepresented without our help The majority of these families are found to be eligible for asylum in the US Their detention costs $300/day

Return Reference	Explanation
Fin 48	IJC follows guidance that clarifies the accounting for uncertainty in tax positions taken or expected to be taken in a tax return, including issues relating to financial statement recognition and measurement. This guidance provides that the tax effects from an uncertain tax position can only be recognized in the financial statements if the position is "more-likely-than-not" to be sustained if the position were to be challenged by a taxing authority. The assessment of the tax position is based solely on the technical merits of the position, without regard to the likelihood that the tax position may be challenged. IJC is exempt from income tax under IRC section 501(c)(3), though it is subject to tax on income unrelated to its exempt purpose, unless that income is otherwise excluded by the Code. IJC has processes presently in place to ensure the maintenance of its tax-exempt status, to identify and report unrelated income, to determine its filing and tax obligations in jurisdictions for which it was nexus, and to identify and evaluate other matters that may be considered tax positions. The tax years ending August 31, 2015 and 2014 are still open to audit for both federal and state purposes. IJC has determined that there are no material uncertain tax positions that require recognition or disclosure in the financial statements.
