| Part III, Additional Information                                      | With respect to question 1a, page one of Schedule J, the President and CFO of this organization is an ordained minister and provides all written Christian materials to this organization as well as making many appearances as a guest minister both domestically and internationally. This allowance covers all annual direct expense of his residence, but has been limited to $120,000 annually. The fair rental value of the residence including utilities actually exceeds the amount allowed annually. With respect to question 3, page 1 of Schedule J, this organization and its Board of Directors goes to extreme measures annually to assess the proper compensation to all Director/Employees, including the President and CEO. His direct salary and living allowance are less than market surveys and studies that are available and never have exceeded a total of $250,000. The additional $552,000 represents licensing fees paid to Celebration Enterprises, Inc., a private corporation owned by Robert Gass, which provides written material and unrestricted rights of reproduction and publication to this organization and international organizations to reproduce this material as deemed appropriate. The licensing fees include a catch-up amount over several years. The licensing amounts mirror existing licensing agreements in place with unrelated outside organizations. |

| Form 990, Part VI, Line 2Description of Business or Family Relationship of Officers, Directors, Et | Robert Gass, the President of this organization since inception, is, of course, compensated by this organization. Likewise, Debby Gass, the CEO, is compensated by the corporation. Both of their salaries are reviewed annually by the Board of Directors, and outside compensation studies ensure that the levels of their compensation are securely in the range of appropriate compensation for their positions and duties. Neil Gass, the son of Robert Gass, serves on the Board of Directors and receives a Director's fee of $1500 but has no expense allowance. |
| Form 990, Part VI, Line 11bForm 990 Review Process                                                 | The return and related financial statements are reviewed with the Chief Executive Officer and the Chief Financial Officer, both Board Members, before the return is submitted.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Form 990, Part VI, Line 12cExplanation of Monitoring and Enforcement of Conflicts                  | The organization has a written policy regarding employment conflicts with respect to organization operations and mission. The manual specifies expected behavior by employees during regular business hours and during after-hours. The manual also indicates the potential consequences of violating such policies. The CEO regularly meets with department managers and employees during compensation reviews, and all such behavior is covered during such meetings.                                                                                                   |
| Form 990, Part VI, Line 15aCompensation Review & Approval Process - CEO, Top Management            | This organization, through the insistence and support of the Board of Directors, has conducted extensive research, primarily through a Guidestar report, in order to ensure that the organization compensates all officers and key employees appropriately with respect to market conditions and individual responsibilities. It has been a consistent practice by the CEO and other key officers to report to the board regarding such matters and to request approval for any significant pay increases or changes to compensation for officers and key employees.      |
