Part III, Line 1a If organization elected under SFAS 116 to not report are, historical treasures, o	As permitted by the provisions of FASB ASC 958, Not-for-Profit Entities, the Society does not capitalize donated works of art, books, or manuscripts or recognize them as revenue or gains. Collection items acquired either through purchase or donation are not capitalized. Purchases of collection items are recorded as decreases in unrestricted net assets if purchased with unrestricted assets and as decreases in temporarily restricted or permanently restricted net assets if purchased with donor- restricted assets. Contributions of collection items are not recognized in the Statement of Activities. Proceeds from deaccessions or insurance recoveries are reflected on the Statement of Activities based on the absence or existence and nature of donor-imposed restrictions. The Society's accounts do not include values of Philosophical Hall, built between 1785 and 1789, a national historic landmark, and its collection of books, manuscripts and works of art.
Part III, Line 4 Description of organization's collections and how it furthers its purpose	The Society's offices and exhibition galleries are located in Philosophical Hall, a national historic landmark. Its collection of books, manuscripts and works of art support research, discovery and public education through public exhibitions and the Society's research library.
Part IV, Line 1b Why is organization an agent, trustee, custodian or other intermediary for contrib	The Society is the beneficiary under a number of trusts administered by two banks. The assets of the trusts are not included in the Statement of Financial Position of the Society since the Society does not exercise any control over those funds and certain conditions must be met annually to receive the income. The income from the trusts for 2015 and 2014 was $150,064 and $178,457, respectively.
Part V, Line 4 Intended uses of the endowment fund	Under the Society's endowment spending policy, 4-3% of the average market value at the mid-point of the previous three years is appropriated for current operations. The investment policy utilized by the Society attempts to provide a predictable stream of funding to programs supported by its endowment while seeking to maintain the purchasing power of the endowment assets (donor-restricted funds that the Society must hold in perpetuity or for a donor-specified period as well as council designated funds). Endowments have been established for the following activities: administration, research, publications, meetings, library, Franklin Hall, and any other activity of the Society.
Part X FIN48 Footnote	The Society is a publicly supported tax-exempt organization in accordance with the provisions of Internal Revenue Code Section 501(c)(3). Accordingly, no provision for federal income taxes has been made. With few exceptions, the Organization is no longer subject to U.S. federal examinations by tax authorities for years before 2012. The Society recognizes interest expense and penalties in interest expense. There was no interest or penalties related to income taxes recognized for the years ended December 31, 2015 and 2014.

Part I, Line 2 - Grantmakers Explanation For Monitoring Use of Funds Outside US	The American Philosophical Society has certain committees that are responsible for the selection of individuals receiving disbursements in furtherance of the exempt programs. An application for a grant must be submitted either electronically or on typewritten forms provided for that purpose. Awards are made by the Society's Committees in accordance with the following principles: 1. Grants are intended to assist investigators by providing for costs of research work, such as the collection of scientific and literary materials, preparation of photographs, microfilms, and other records, purchases of supplies, necessary travel, and other incidental expenses of research. 2. Grants are not made toward the payment of salaries of members of the staff of an educational or scientific institution. Grants may not include institutional overhead. When a grant is made to a member of an institution to assist him or her in research of scholarly writings, it is expected that the institution will cooperate in facilitating the work. 3. Grants are not made for (a) salaries, fellowships, scholarships, or other projects involving personal expenses over long periods, (b) subsidies for publication, (c) usual or permanent equipment for the institution involved (but may be made for special apparatus needed in the proposed research), (d) travel to meetings, (e) expense of grantee's family. 4. Support of a long-continuing project is not undertaken, except in its initial stage. 5. No recipient of a grant shall thereby become an employee of the Society. The written agreement with the grantee sets forth the specific objectives of the grant and requires each recipient to file a written report with the Society. In the formal notification sent to all recipients of grants, there is a request that credit be given to the Society in the publication of work supported by such grants and that a copy of each publication be sent to the Society. To this has been added another statement that the Committee on Publications would appreciate an opportunity to consider publication of a manuscript, but there is no obligation that such a paper be published by the Society.
