Form 990-EZ, Part V, Line 34 - Changes to Organizational Documents

The organizational goals and qualifications of the President are changed as follows:

The Athletic Angels Foundation (AAF) is dedicated to improving the lives of underprivileged youth by providing athletic, academic, and mentoring opportunities to help them be the best they can be. By providing these services, AAF creates effective pathways for young men and women to change their lifestyles and escape the mindsets associated with the cycle of poverty. AAF will leverage the resources of Barwis Methods to accomplish these purposes, connecting the kids with elite athletes from the high-school, collegiate, and professional levels for positive role models in real relationships in their lives. AAF will also provide various training activities such as camps, clinics, speed and agility training, weight lifting training, and more. Additionally, AAF will provide academic activities such as private and group tutoring, special classes and clinics on various topics such as effective study techniques and SAT or ACT prep classes, and even establishing facilities such as charter schools, training centers and both temporary and permanent housing opportunities to provide our beneficiaries with an effective environment for development.

To overcome the financial obstacles that affect these underprivileged youth, the AAF shall raise funds through events and personal donations to help cover the costs associated with the implementation of the Barwis Methods Sports Training, Injury Recovery Program, Life Coaching and other Barwis Methods programs to their situation. Such costs may include, but are not limited to: actual personal training expenses, transportation and accommodation expenses, dietary and nutritional considerations, gear, apparel, equipment, and even local activity and entertainment expenses as well as school and housing supplies for the individual students as well as the educational and housing facilities. The list of expenses would also entail supervisory expenses such as chaperones for trips, security personnel, teachers and administrators, coaches, drivers and more as well as the cost of community building events like parties, entertainment and sporting events and athletic development opportunities such as camps, clinics, combines, in-season training, post-season training, during-season training, club and select sport teams and private coaching.

The Barwis Methods are revolutionary in their ability to help youth that come from impoverished environments. Young men and women have the unique ability to train like professional athletes, opening up potential scholarship opportunities for post-graduate education, encouraging healthy lifestyles through education of proper diet, nutrition, and exercise needs.

It combines the athletic with the academic opportunities, seeking to combine them along with positive role models to create ideal scenarios for impoverished youth to overcome the obstacles of poverty as they grow into maturity.

Mike Barwis, MS, CSCS, RSSC-E, is the founder and CEO of the Barwis Methods family of companies, including the Barwis Methods Training Centers, CEO and president of Athletic Angels Foundation and First Step Foundation, is the Senior Advisor for Strength and Conditioning for the New York Mets, is an internationally sought-after motivational speaker and is known for his revolutionary techniques in strength and conditioning as well as developing the field of Neurological Reengineering. Mike was previously the Director of Strength and Conditioning at the University of Michigan where he was directly responsible for the development and implementation of the football strength and conditioning program. He oversaw a staff that included 7 full-time assistants, 1 part-time assistant and 10 interns. Under his direct supervision, Barwis Assistants also handled ice hockey, softball, wrestling and men's soccer.

Barwis also worked at West Virginia University for a period of 14 years. He was appointed the Director of Strength and Conditioning for Olympic sports in 2000 during which time he supervised all of the University's sports programs except football. In 2003, Barwis assumed the responsibility for the Mountaineers football program while maintaining his
