1

Briefly describe the organization's mission

Global Blood Fund works with low and middle-income countries to ensure a safe and sufficient blood supply for all. This is achieved through the provision of training, equipment, grants and other forms of support, with a particular focus on engaging local citizens in voluntary non-remunerated blood donation (VNRBD). VNRBD is recognized, by the World Health Organization and others, as the most cost-effective way to prevent the thousands of deaths that result each year from blood shortages. It also helps mitigate the transmission of infections, such as HIV, that can be contracted through blood transfusion and devastate lives and families.

2

Did the organization undertake any significant program services during the year which were not listed on the prior Form 990 or 990-EZ?

☒ No

If "Yes," describe these new services on Schedule O

3

Did the organization cease conducting, or make significant changes in how it conducts, any program services?

☐ Yes

☒ No

If "Yes," describe these changes on Schedule O

4

Describe the organization's program service accomplishments for each of its three largest program services, as measured by expenses. Section 501(c)(3) and 501(c)(4) organizations are required to report the amount of grants and allocations to others, the total expenses, and revenue, if any, for each program service reported.

4a

(Code) (Expenses $ 69,292 including grants of $) (Revenue $ 12,826)

GBF is regularly offered used equipment by blood centers in the U.S., Europe and Australia. This often becomes available as a consequence of routine upgrade programs that leave still-serviceable equipment surplus to local requirements. Historically, the charity manually attempted to place this with blood services in Africa and elsewhere with existing contact networks and where it might be anticipated this would add value to operations. To bring greater rigor to this program and to expand its reach to both donors and recipients, in 2013 GBF developed EqXchange, a cloud-based portal to provide for the global exchange of information on availability and need. During 2015, approximately $350,000 of equipment (at used value, using the methodology published on GBF's website) was rehomed to in-need blood services. Examples of items include portable donation beds, donor couches, bloodmobiles, and donation scales/mixers. Recipient countries included Botswana, Mexico, Kenya, and Bangladesh. In addition, for the first time the charity purchased new equipment in response to a specific need in Vanuatu relating to platelet management in the wake of Cyclone Pam. The number of countries assisted by GBF now exceeds 40.

4b

(Code) (Expenses $ 29,099 including grants of $ 8,240) (Revenue $ 5,386)

Non-equipment-based support also formed a component of GBF's overall package of charitable activity. GBF directly provided donor recruitment and management training to the national blood establishments in Namibia and Uganda, as well as, sponsoring third-party training. For example, facilitating and funding a leader within the Cameroonian blood network to spend time familiarizing himself with best practice in South Africa, and facilitating and funding Mexican trainees to attend a U.S. workshop. GBF also worked with the Asian Association of Transfusion Medicine in organizing a pan-Asia story contest- "The Wonder of Blood, Saving Lives in Asia"- which successfully generated narratives from those impacted by blood donation or transfusion to help better communicate the challenges of blood collection in that continent. This followed on from similar activity in Africa in 2014. To overcome previous operational challenges in "renting" a contest platform, GBF developed its own technical solution and is now in a position to deploy this resource more extensively in the future. This is in line with the charity's ambition to curate stories that communicate the blood collection challenges in low-income settings and so encourage future support in tackling these issues.

4c

(Code) (Expenses $ 20,859 including grants of $) (Revenue $ 3,861)

GBF's Open Arms program gives blood centers across the U.S., and in other parts of the world, an opportunity to offer their blood donors a charitable alternative to the usual recognition items of printed T-shirts, etc. This program creates a virtuous circle of activity such as improving donor choice, motivating collection staff, saving blood center money, providing a diversity platform to encourage donation from minority communities, and providing resources for international development work in an area of interest to all parties. During 2015 the number of blood centers engaged in Open Arms remained broadly stable as GBF worked to deepen the engagement of existing centers and operationalize declared support, rather than expanding the network. For example, New York Blood Centers ran a dedicated campaign over Christmas and New Year to raise awareness and funds for GBF.

PROGRAM SERVICE
ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Part III, Lines 2 And 3 Global Blood Funds activity remained mission-centric during 2015, but broadened and deepened in terms of transaction count, activity type, geographic regions supported, and partners engaged. A core service capability, EqXchange, was impacted by supplier issues during 2014, but was re-established on a new platform for 2015. EqXchange is a cloud-based platform enabling blood services worldwide to list (usually surplus) equipment available for donation. As well as viewing and responding to offers, the system offers blood services in low-income countries the ability to list their specific requirements. Program Service Accomplishments Expenses and revenues where relevant - are listed against program areas. Non directed grants are considered general income and are not allocated to specific programs. Note that much of GBFs activity is facilitating co-operation between developed blood services and other agencies (industry suppliers, professional associations) and those less-developed organizations in need of support. Program expenses do not therefore reflect the full "value added" of the charity's operations.
