Form 990, Part VI, Section B, Line 12c	On an annual basis, officers, directors, and key employees disclose all conflicts in writing or state that they have no conflicts of interest. Employees' conflict of interest disclosure forms are reviewed by the employee's supervisor, department director, and the Executive Director. Conflicts are noted and the employee must refer any conflicted transactions to his/her supervisor for approval. Conflicts of interest that arise outside of this process are addressed immediately by the employee's supervisor, department director, and the Executive Director. The Board Chair reviews the conflict of interest disclosure forms of Board of Directors members. Board members who have a possible conflict of interest are prohibited from voting or using their personal influence on the matter. Minutes of the meeting will reflect that a disclosure was made and that the member abstained from voting.

This process was last completed in 2011. At that time, the independent consulting firm was also hired to complete market pricing analysis for all director-level positions (Leadership Council).
