Return Reference	Explanation
Schedule I, Part 1, Line 2	When an organization applies for a grant through Royals Charities general grant application process and is awarded that grant, a link to the online reporting mechanism is mailed to the awarded organization with the award letter. The reporting mechanism is always available online for printing. That reporting mechanism is a one-page final grant report. It must be completed and returned within one year of the grant award date. Royals Charities asks that pictures of the project be returned if applicable. If the final report is not returned and/or the project is not completed within one year, the organization is ineligible for additional grant awards until they become compliant with the reporting process. The director of Royals Charities makes every effort to conduct site visits for all grants awarded. If a site visit is impossible, pictures of the completed project are requested. When an organization applies for a grant through Royals Charities Royalty Fields grant application process and is awarded that grant, two reporting mechanisms are mailed to the awarded organization with the award letter. Those reporting mechanisms are a one-page six-month progress report and a one-page one-year final report which requires copies of applicable receipts. If the project is not completed within one year, Royals Charities requires that the grant award be refunded to Royals Charities. Royals Charities asks that pictures of the project be returned with the final report when applicable. In addition, the director of Royals Charities makes every effort to visit recently renovated fields if pictures of the project do not adequately display the completed project. Once the project is complete, a sign acknowledging Royals Charities is mailed to the organization for display at the renovated field.
