Summary of Direct Charitable Activities

List the foundation's four largest direct charitable activities during the tax year. Include relevant statistical information such as the number of organizations and other beneficiaries served, conferences convened, research papers produced, etc	Expenses
1 OFFICE OF ECONOMIC EDUCATIONThe Thomas R Brown Foundation (TRBF) continues its work with the University of Arizona Office of Economic Education (OEE) in providing outreach programs throughout six southern Arizona counties. TRBF and the OEE offer programs in economics education to teachers outside Pima County, taking programs out to the counties through cooperative scheduling with district superintendents' offices and county school personnel. In furtherance of the 2013 TRBF Strategic Plan, the OEE now has reliable contacts in each of the target counties, and delivers to those counties one elementary and one high school-level program per school year. The OEE director also brings in nationally known professors who work with both PhD candidates and local high school teachers to improve their content and delivery of economics education. Finally, the OEE continues to coordinate the annual Micro and Macroeconomic Summer Institute, taught by award-winning professors and classroom teachers. OEE	130,902
2 V O T E (Voices on the Economy) SeriesThe VOTE series is designed to teach economic issues from multiple perspectives in order to inspire full civic engagement in developing and implementing economic policies. Developed by Amy Cramer, PhD, the series teaches the history of three different economic perspectives without promoting any specific economic or political viewpoint. The economic perspectivespure capitalism, regulated capitalism, and radical capitalism (cooperatively owned resources)appear both historically and in contemporary political discourse. The series begins with a three-day conference during which Dr. Amy Cramer teaches the historic foundations for the three perspectives, and then applies the perspectives to modern public policy issues, including rent control, minimum wage, and consumer safety regulations. As a sequel to the initial conference, Dr. Cramer offers eight additional workshops over a two-year period. The single day topics covered are healthcare, retirement	45,318
3 THE THOMAS R BROWN PROFESSORSHIP IN ECONOMICSThe Thomas R Brown Professorship in Economics at the University of Arizona is a five-year commitment designed to support the retention of key faculty who strengthen both the Foundations local educational programs as well as research and work in economics. The Foundation does this directly through the University of Arizona by helping the UA retain key faculty. TRBF currently supports the work of Price Fishback, PhD, an internationally renowned author and researcher in the area of economic history. In addition to Dr. Fishbacks leadership in academia, he also has taught workshops for southern Arizona history, government and economics teachers	31,915
4 ECONOMICS BOOK CLUBThe TRBF Economics Book Club is comprised of teachers who research and select four books per year with economic themes, then meet to discuss the economic issues explored in the books and collaborate on ways to incorporate new information into the classes they teach. This highly participatory program allows teachers to clarify, expand and deepen their understanding of economics principles by reading broadly across the discipline. The book club meets twice each semester and the Foundation both provides the books to the teachers and facilitates the book discussion. Each book is discussed for two consecutive nights in order to accommodate all interested teachers. During 2015, attendance was 70 teachers, with some teachers attending multiple sessions throughout the year	13,004
