VOTING RIGHTS AND ELECTION PROTECTIONIn 2015 the challenge of legally protecting voting rights and helping individual voters retain access increased when the United States Supreme Court in 2013 eliminated pre-clearance requirements for election law changes in states that are traditional voting rights offenders. In response, the Lawyers' Committee pursued an active docket of strategic litigation on matters such as Voter ID laws, purging of voter rolls, and reduction of early voting hours. In addition to our litigation docket, we undertook efforts to educate voters by creating voter information toolkits, and conducting Twitter Town Hall meetings. The Lawyers' Committee leads Election Protection, the nation's largest nonpartisan voter protection coalition. Through its suite of hotlines, including the 866-OUR-VOTE hotline (866-687-8683) administered by the Lawyers' Committee, 888-VE-Y-VOTA (888-839-8682) administered by NALEO Educational Fund, 888-API-VOTE (888-273-8683) administered by APIAVote and Asian Americans Advancing Justice-AAJC and a dedicated team of trained legal and grassroots volunteers, Election Protection helps all American voters, including traditionally disenfranchised groups, gain access to the polls and overcome obstacles to voting. The coalition has more than 100 partners. In 2015, the hotline received more than 2,800 calls on Election Day alone.

FAIR HOUSING AND COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENTThe Lawyers' Committee has spent many years advocating for the release of the Affirmatively Furthering Fair Housing rule, which was finally released by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) on July 8, 2015. The rule provides jurisdictions with data and tools to help them meet long-standing fair housing obligations in their use of HUD funds. We provided HUD with written comments on the rule and tool and now provide technical assistance to jurisdictions on the new Assessment of Fair Housing (AFH) and on Analyses of Impediments (AI). The Lawyers' Committee filed an amicus brief in the U.S. Supreme Court in Texas Department of Housing & Community Affairs v. Inclusive Communities Project, Inc., which was decided on June 25, 2015. The U.S. Supreme Court, in a 5-4 decision, held that disparate impact discrimination claims are cognizable under the Fair Housing Act. The Project has also been assisting Texas Rio Grande Legal Services in its efforts to resolve an environmental justice Title VI complaint filed with the Federal Highway Administration (FHWA) challenging the building of a bridge in Corpus Christi, Texas, which has a devastating adverse environmental impact on the historically African American and Latino neighborhood in the city. On December 17, 2015, an in-depth compliance agreement was reached between FHWA and the Texas Department of Transportation which addressed most of the concerns of the minority community. The agreement has been hailed as a milestone by environmental justice advocates.

EDUCATION	The Educational Opportunities Project improved the state of education for K-12 students nationwide. In 2015 the Parental Readiness and Empowerment Program (PREP) continued to organize and facilitate site-based parental empowerment workshops and clinics with its partners in Minneapolis-St. Paul, New York City, and San Diego, and extended its reach nationwide with a new mobile-ready national platform with information, resources, and training webinars and videos. Since the official launch of the PREP national online platform, we have produced 25 video tutorials and 6 webinars, which have been viewed more than 800 times. In P B v White, plaintiffs allege defendants failed to ensure that students with disabilities in New Orleans have access to educational opportunity. In 2015 we worked with parties to identify an independent monitor to supervise the implementation of the agreement, which will improve the delivery and monitoring of special education services and prevent disability discrimination in New Orleans schools. In another ongoing lawsuit, Coalition v Maryland Higher Education Commission, the Educational Opportunities project won a victory in 2013 when the district court held that unnecessary program duplication between Maryland's Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCUs) and Traditionally White Institutions perpetuates segregation by preventing the HBCUs from attracting numerous students of all races. In May 2015, plaintiffs submitted a comprehensive remedial proposal for the Court's consideration, which, if implemented, would dismantle the dual system of higher education in Maryland. The court has issued an order indicating that an evidentiary hearing on remedies will be scheduled. In September 2015, we and our partners filed a lawsuit to challenge the continued maintenance of three racially identifiable and inequitably resourced school districts in Halifax County, North Carolina. Plaintiffs allege that maintaining three racially and socioeconomically isolated districts deprives these students of a sound basic education as guaranteed by the state constitution.

EMPLOYMENT	The Employment Discrimination Project continues to fight for fairness in hiring practices. In 2015, we and our partners Council of State Governments, Legal Action Center and National Workrights Institute organized the first two in a series of Fair Hiring Conference, based on the Lawyers' Committee report, Best Practice Standards: the Proper Use of Criminal Records in Hiring. Convenings held in May 2015 in Atlanta, GA, and October 2015 in Chicago featured reentry experts and advocates, workforce development professionals, and some of the leading employers utilizing our recommended best practices for hiring individuals with criminal records. Presentations highlighted evidence that the benefits of hiring workers with records far outweigh the costs of a negligent hiring claim, estimated to occur only 1 in 10,000 hires of persons with records. Also in 2015, we joined the defense in a case against an undocumented Mexican worker in more than 20 felony charges for using a false Social Security Number. The case was filed in retaliation for her filing a Wage and Hour lawsuit.

LEGAL MOBILIZATION AND PUBLIC POLICYThe Legal Mobilization Project provides critical support to all Lawyers' Committee programming and litigation by leveraging and coordinating the resources of the private bar. In 2015, law firms donated over 32,000 pro bono hours on behalf of the Lawyers' Committee and our clients. An additional 62,000 hours were donated to Clemency Project 2014 in which the Lawyers' Committee manages over 70 national law firms. This results in over 94,000 pro bono hours totaling nearly $51,600,000. The Clemency Project 2014 is a program designed to provide pro bono legal assistance to federal prisoners who have applied for the Obama Administration's clemency initiative announced in early 2014. Since the beginning of the initiative, the Lawyers' Committee has been a major supporting organization, providing recruitment, management and coordination of national law firms, and technical expertise in program development and infrastructure. To date, we have mobilized more than 65 private law firms to assist in reviewing the applications of more than 26,000 federal inmates. By December 2015, President Obama commuted the unfairly harsh sentences of 95 federal prisoners as part of the President's historic clemency initiative, 27 of the 95 cases were represented by attorneys volunteering with Clemency Project 2014. In addition to coordinating co-counsel for trials and other support for legal research, educational programming, and major mobilization initiatives such as Election Protection, PREP and Clemency Project, the Legal Mobilization Project incubates new initiatives that allow the Lawyers' Committee to engage with a network current and prospective partners nationwide. Much of our work in the Criminal Justice Initiative takes place within the context of our education, employment, fair housing, and voting rights projects, such as work to "ban the box and advocate for responsible and appropriate use of criminal history backgrounds. Beginning in 2015, other work of the Criminal Justice Initiative included investigating three southern states for the unconstitutional incarceration of poor individuals because they cannot pay court-related debt or fixed or excessive bail, commonly referred to as modern day "debtors' prisons." PUBLIC POLICY PROJECTMost notably in 2015, the Director of the Public Policy Project and the Director of Communications and External Relations, along with other Lawyers' Committee staff, convened and coordinated the Civil Rights Coalition on Police Reform. In addition to coordinating weekly phone meetings and organizing coalition activities, the Lawyers' Committee took the lead on engaging with the White House, the U.S. Department of Justice (DOJ) and other Administration official to help further action on coalition recommendations and strategies. Communications staff raised the profile of the Coalition and its work by organizing two virtual town halls and two audio press-conferences and an in-person town hall discussion with high profile leaders. We also engaged with youth activists and thought leaders to engage the public through social media, a series of op-eds, and other publications. Lawyers' Committee staff also engaged in discussions and community meetings, including Ferguson, Baltimore, and other jurisdictions to better understand local community issues and dynamics while also sharing public education materials and recommendations on police brutality and reform. In addition to coordination of the Civil Rights Coalition on Police Reform, the Public Policy Project supported all of the past, current, and emerging Project areas and initiatives of the Lawyers' Committee by advocating for the effective advancement of civil rights at local, state, and federal levels. This support includes providing guidance to and coordinating the advocacy, coalitional leadership and communications efforts (in partnership with our Communications staff) of the organization, as well as giving our advocacy a public face. The Public Policy Project works closely with Lawyers' Committee project staff and our coalition partners on recommendations, testimony, and public education efforts around major pieces of legislation pertinent to the Lawyers' Committee and the communities we serve. This includes our work with the Voting Rights Project on potential Voting Rights Act legislative fixes, our work with the Educational Opportunity Project on the reauthorization of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA), coordinating the Lawyers' Committee's leadership role in organizing national civil rights organizations around the need for police reform, and working with the Employment Discrimination Project on the Administration's recent Executive Order to eliminate the unnecessary use of criminal background checks. A special initiative of the Public Policy Project is the Judicial Diversity Program. Judicial Diversity organizes and implements educational programmingincluding panel discussions, workshops, and mentoring opportunitiesfor law students and attorneys who may aspire to judicial careers. In 2015, Judicial Diversity expanded its programming in Washington state and North Carolina, and began planning for further expansion of the program to additional states.
