Part III Statement of Program Service Accomplishments

Check if Schedule O contains a response or note to any line in this Part III ☒

1 Briefly describe the organization's mission

The purpose of the American Physiological Society is to promote the increase of physiological knowledge and its utilization. This is accomplished through the meetings and publications of the Society. The target audience for the services of the Society includes over 10,000 members as well as the large number of biomedical scientists interested in the physiological sciences who are not members of the Society.

2 Did the organization undertake any significant program services during the year which were not listed on the prior Form 990 or 990-EZ? ☐ Yes ☒ No

If "Yes," describe these new services on Schedule O

3 Did the organization cease conducting, or make significant changes in how it conducts, any program services? ☐ Yes ☒ No

If "Yes," describe these changes on Schedule O

4 Describe the organization's program service accomplishments for each of its three largest program services, as measured by expenses. Section 501(c)(3) and 501(c)(4) organizations are required to report the amount of grants and allocations to others, the total expenses, and revenue, if any, for each program service reported.

4a (Code) (Expenses $ 14,418,503 including grants of $ 1,131,028) (Revenue $ 16,241,335)

The American Physiological Society (Society) usually conducts three scientific meetings per year, one meeting that is held each spring in conjunction with several other scientific societies and two smaller scientific conferences. The spring meeting attracts between 12,000 and 15,000 scientists, which represent the target audience. Of those attending the meeting, between 3,000 and 4,000 scientists directly benefit from the scientific offerings of the Society. The two conferences attract approximately 500 scientists who represent the number of persons benefiting directly from the Society's symposia and workshops. The target audience for the conferences is between 15,000 and 25,000, representing members of the Society and the population of scientists interested in some aspect of the society's conferences. The Society publishes 13 scientific journals that serve as the vehicle for the dissemination of the investigator's research. The Society publishes more than 31,000 pages and receives over 6,300 manuscripts for publication. Each manuscript has an average of three authors, representing a population of 18,000 scientists who benefit from the society's publications. In addition, there are over 8,000 subscriptions to the 13 journals published by the Society. The majority of the subscribers are libraries providing a large target audience for the journals. Not only faculty, but also students and clinicians refer to the Society's journals providing for a potential target audience in excess of 100,000.

Part IV

Supplemental Information. Provide the information required in Part I, line 2, Part III, column (b), and any other additional information.

Return Reference	Explanation
Part I, Line 2	Award funding is usually not disbursed until after the condition of award has been met and verified by an APS staff person, either through physical presence at the event or through reviewing reports. Occasionally award funding may be advanced and carried on APS books as a receivable until such time as the condition of award has been completed and verified. Funding that is offered in support of an ongoing effort is tracked by an APS staff person by reports, newsletters, or other various means to track progress and ensure proper use of the funding.

990 Schedule O, Supplemental Information

Return Reference	Explanation
Form 990, Part VI, Section A, line 6	The Society consists of regular, honorary, affiliate, emeritus, graduate student, undergraduate student and sustaining associate members
Form 990, Part VI, Section A, line 7a	The Governing Body of the American Physiological Society is elected by ballot by the regular membership. Only regular members in good standing can vote and hold elected office.

990 Schedule O, Supplemental Information

Return Reference	Explanation
Form 990, Part VI, Section A, line 7b	Amendments to Bylaws may be proposed in writing, by any regular member, to Council at any time up to three months in advance of any Business Meeting of the Society. Such proposed amendments must be presented in writing at the following Business Meeting for action by the Society. These Bylaws may be amended at any Business Meeting of the Society by a two-thirds vote of the regular members present and voting.
Form 990, Part VI, Section B, line 11	APS' form 990 is completed by the APS Accounting Manager and reviewed for accuracy and completeness by the Deputy Executive Director. The form is then reviewed for accuracy and completeness by the Society's tax consultant.

990 Schedule O, Supplemental Information

Return Reference	Explanation
Form 990, Part VI, Section B, line 12c	Each year all APS Board members, officers, and managers are required to complete a disclosure form in which such covered person discloses his or her relationship or affiliation with any person, firm, or entity which proposes to do business, or who is doing business, with APS, and/or who holds a position of influence with another related organization. By signing the statement, the Board member, officer or manager acknowledges that they have received and reviewed the APS Conflict of Interest Policy.
Form 990, Part VI, Section B, line 15a	Annually, the American Physiological Society (APS) engages a third party consultant to perform a study of comparable salaries and wages for like organizations in its geographical area. Findings of the study are used to provide guidance to APS' Council (board of directors), who are responsible for approving annual salary and wage scale increases. The Executive Director's salary is approved by a smaller group of the Council (Executive Committee). In addition, the APS periodically (~ every 5 years) engages a third party consultant to review job descriptions for each position to ensure compensation levels are appropriate for the knowledge and skills required to perform the duties of each position.
