Supplemental Information. Provide the information required in Part I, line 2, Part III, column (b), and any other additional information.

Return Reference	Explanation
Part I, Line 2	For grants to organizations, the Federation conducts a rigorous application process to screen grant recipients including seeing organization financials and other impact metrics. At the time of the next year's application, organizations provide details on how the previous year's grant funds were spent and provide details about its impact. For grants to individuals, The Federation does maintain records that substantiate the amount of grants and the grantee's eligibility. The Director of Jewish Family Services, Membership Director, and Camp Director are responsible for the tracking of scholarships and financial assistance given. The directors determine eligibility through 1) an in-person assessment and 2) receipt of two bank statements or tax returns and documentation from income sources. The Determination of a grant is at the discretion of the department director who is responsible for providing documentation of grants to the CEO and Board as requested. Cash is never given to an individual. Rather, a check is written to pay a specific vendor (rent, utilities, etc.) or a non-cash scholarship is given. No individual can receive more than $1,000 in JFS assistance per year, and no family can receive more than $2,000 per year. For food pantry assistance, an individual must provide proof of residence in Durham/Chapel Hill, and all are limited to two bags of food per month. There are no income restrictions on food pantry assistance.
