The Houston Zoos Wildlife Conservation Program was initiated in 2004 to facilitate leadership in conservation efforts related to the survival of threatened wildlife, the wise use of natural resources, and the appreciation of our natural world As of fiscal year 2015, we currently support 27 projects in 18 countries around the world including the U S Accordingly, the Houston Zoo has committed 3% of its annual operating budget to support this program, which compares favorably with other zoos, most of which do not make such substantial commitments to conservation from their operating budget The Houston Zoo recognizes the need to work both close to home, supporting a number of wildlife reintroduction projects right here in Texas, both also across the globe where we support critical efforts to support elephant, cheetah, rhino and chimpanzee conservation efforts These programs quite often focus as much on the human communities We believe conservation is not just about saving species but about improving the lives of the local communities so they see the benefits of sustainable harvesting Holistic programs that have economic incentives and cultural sensitivity are the only way that local communities will buy into conservation initiatives Through partnerships with local, national, and international conservation agencies and non-governmental organizations (NGOs), such as the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, the Texas Nature Conservancy, and the Association of Zoos and Aquariums (AZA), the Houston Zoo actively participates in programs designed to protect both animals and their natural habitats worldwide

Part III, Line 1a. If organization elected under SFAS 116 to not report are, historical treasures, o	In accordance with industry practice, the Houston Zoo does not capitalize animal and horticultural collections, acquisitions are reported as expenditures in the period of acquisition. The Houston Zoo is responsible for the health and welfare of its animal and horticultural collections. The Houston Zoo maintains records of its collections and any exchanges with other organizations. Under the direction of the Board of Directors, the President, and the curatorial staff, collections continue to be cared for, used, and expanded. In 2015 and 2014, the Houston Zoo expended approximately $132,000 and $111,000, respectively, to expand its collections. In an ongoing commitment to enhance worldwide reproduction and conservation of animals, the Houston Zoo exchanges animals with other organizations. Consistent with industry practice, the Houston Zoo does not record any liability for such exchange arrangements as generally these arrangements are without monetary consideration.
