Return Reference	Explanation
Part X, Line 2	BayLegal is exempt from taxation under Internal Revenue Code Section 501(c)(3) and California Revenue and Taxation Code Section 23701d. Generally accepted accounting principles provide accounting and disclosure guidance about positions taken by an organization in its tax returns that might be uncertain. Management has considered its tax positions and believes that all of the positions taken by BayLegal in their federal and state exempt organization tax returns are more likely than not to be sustained upon examination. BayLegal's returns are subject to examination by federal and state taxing authorities, generally for three and four years, respectively, after they are filed.

990 Schedule O, Supplemental Information

Return Reference	Explanation
Form 990, Part III, Mission Continued	BayLegal's services impact clients in significant ways, including preventing homelessness, establishing safety and protection from abuse for domestic violence victims and their children, securing vital healthcare services to treat physical and mental health conditions, and securing income to provide for food, rent, and other necessities of life. Often, BayLegal is able to resolve multiple interconnected issues for families to improve their overall self-sufficiency and quality of life. BayLegal impacts the community through extensive outreach and education, technical assistance provided to other community and governmental agencies (in several counties, BayLegal trains workers at housing authorities and social service administration offices on the proper administration of their programs), systemic advocacy and impact litigation. The following client stories provide brief examples of how BayLegal's services change lives. Janae was 18 when she came to BayLegal. In the previous months, Janae witnessed a shooting, survived a brutal sexual assault, mourned the death of her foster parent, and began to experience symptoms of borderline personality and post-traumatic stress disorder. She was hospitalized and unable to finish her senior year of high school. After a very short hospital stay, during which a hospital caseworker helped Janae apply for Social Security Disability Insurance, she was released but with nowhere to go, the school year was over, she had no known living relatives, she was notified that her application for disability was denied and she was homeless. Janae found her way to a local youth homeless shelter where BayLegal operates a legal clinic. BayLegal met with Janae and represented her in the appeal of the denial of the disability insurance, helped her maintain her health insurance through Medi-Cal, and because Janae was a former foster youth, her attorney worked to ensure that Janae would also receive the safety-net benefits and services she was entitled to under the law. With active medical insurance, reliable income for basic needs and a stable living arrangement, Janae was able to begin therapy to address her mental health needs and has enrolled in a GED program. Thanks to committed supporters like you, Janae finally feels that she has the stability she needs to move forward with her life. Rachel is a low-income single mother who recently lost her job. In addition to the stresses of raising a child on her own and looking for a new job, Rachel has severe, ongoing habitability issues in her apartment, including a mice infestation, mold, and unreliable plumbing. Despite multiple requests, Rachel's property manager failed to fix any of the problems in the apartment. Meanwhile, Rachel had trouble finding a new job and her unemployment benefits soon ran out. Unable to pay her rent on time, Rachel received a 10-day notice to pay or move out. Desperate for help, Rachel called BayLegal, where she was able to immediately speak with an attorney, free of charge. Rachel's BayLegal housing attorney advocated on her behalf and successfully negotiated an agreement for her to stay in the apartment. Today, Rachel has a new job and is on a repayment schedule with her landlord for the past due rent. Rachel has already saved up most of what she owes and is happy that she has been given a second chance. Rachel's attorney also got the property manager to agree to reduce Rachel's rent if they can't resolve all of her habitability issues within 30 days. With BayLegal's help, Rachel and her son were not only able to avoid eviction, but will have their apartment's outstanding repairs properly fixed, finally giving them a stable place to call home. Lydia, an immigrant to the U.S. from Mexico, was terrified by her husband's violent and irrational behavior. Over the past four years he began accusing her of having an affair, harassed her at work, and blamed her for their financial difficulties arising from him being fired from several jobs. Often he would beat her in front of their two children, even while they were crying for him to stop. She couldn't understand why her husband would do such things until one day she caught him smoking crack cocaine in their home. Recognizing that her husband had a serious problem, and fearful for her safety and that of her children, Lydia called the police and sought help from a violence prevention agency that referred her to Bay Area Legal Aid. BayLegal helped Lydia file a restraining order and obtain full custody of the children, not allowing visitations from her husband unless he enrolled in a drug rehabilitation program and a batterer's treatment program. BayLegal also referred Lydia and her children to a therapist to cope with the trauma of the abuse, and helped her apply for permanent residency in the U.S. through the Violence Against Women Act. With BayLegal's help, Lydia is beginning to feel empowered and believes that she can become self-sufficient and support herself and her children. She has obtained a job with better pay, and found new housing for her family. Currently, BayLegal is representing her in divorce proceedings. BayLegal also balances its direct individual services with systemic work to address root causes of issues harming low-income residents. Low-income people do not have the time or expertise necessary to address systemic errors and inefficiencies that develop in under-resourced government agencies, or to challenge unlawful activities present in consumer, housing and healthcare markets. By working with hundreds of individuals and families each year, BayLegal has intimate knowledge of the problems that cause poor people harm and impede their struggle for self-sufficiency. Systemic work, informed by BayLegal's work with individual clients, includes impact litigation, legislative and administrative advocacy, and training, technical assistance and policy development for agencies that administer housing, healthcare and benefits programs for the Bay Area's low-income residents. BayLegal's work is a vital part of the poverty eradication movement. Recent studies have confirmed that investing in legal services is a cost-effective means of solving issues faced by low-income people. "The impact of legal aid in terms of public costs saved - homelessness prevented, health benefits secured, domestic violence harms averted, among other measures - has been documented in dozens of local and national analyses," says David Udell, director, National Center for Access to Justice at Cardozo Law School in New York City. "The impact in terms of people's lives is immeasurable." As more communities and municipalities learn about the value of civil legal services in stabilizing the lives of low-income people, BayLegal has experienced a demand for legal services across its seven county service region. While BayLegal continues to strategically develop its program to ensure it is responsive to the ongoing and emerging needs of the diverse populations it serves, the receipt of flexible funding is increasingly important to ensure fairness for all in the justice system, and in particular for populations and communities who are not able to afford high quality representation.
Form 990, Part III, Line 4a	BayLegal also provides targeted services for vulnerable populations including foster and transition age youth including Commercially Sexually Exploited Children, youth with disabilities, mental health issues, and/or involvement in the dependency or delinquency systems, veterans, and formerly incarcerated people.
Form 990, Part VI, Section B, line 11	The Audit/Finance Committee of the Board of Directors reviews the Form 990 before it is filed.
Form 990, Part VI, Section B, line 12c	Each member of the Board of Directors is provided a copy of the Conflict of Interest Policy on an annual basis. Board members and key staff have a duty to disclose conflicts of interest, or the appearance of such conflicts, to the Executive Director or the Chair of the Board.
Form 990, Part VI, Section B, line 15	The executive committee of the Board of Directors recommends the level of salary and other compensation of the Executive Director to the Board of Directors based on performance and comparative data for other Legal Aid programs. The Executive Director has the authority to establish compensation of the key management staff, and relies on information from other Legal services programs and salary surveys.
Form 990, Part VI, Section C, line 19	Copies of the documents are provided upon request, some are also published in the annual report and on BayLegal's website.
Form 990, Part XI, line 9	Gain on acquisition of Legal Aid of Napa Valley -See Sch. O 73,494
Form 990, Part XI, Line 9	BayLegal acquired Legal Aid of Napa Valley in a transaction accounted for as an acquisition. BayLegal did not transfer any consideration as part of the acquisition.
