4a	(Code) (Expenses $ 1,706,806 including grants of $ 486,198) (Revenue $ 477,197)
Research Program stimulates and supports basic, translational, and clinical research on the various manifestations of tuberous sclerosis complex (TSC) to further the development of clinical therapies and, ultimately, a cure for TSC. The TS Alliance has funded $18.8 million in research on TSC since 1984. Directed by Steven L. Roberds, Ph.D., Chief Scientific Officer, the TS Alliance research grants program funds research focused on TSC proposed by researchers and aligned with the research priorities of the TS Alliance. Collaborations between basic and clinical researchers are encouraged and fostered, for example, by biennial International TSC Research Conferences. Through the TS Alliance research grants program, applications can be submitted for postdoctoral fellowships, research grants, and Rothberg Courage Awards. Grants are reviewed in a three-step process: (1) all grant applications are reviewed by a committee comprised of scientists knowledgeable about the topic area for scientific merit and of adults affected by TSC for potential impact on the lives of those affected by TSC, (2) the Science and Medical Committee of the Board of Directors evaluates the grant review committee's recommendations and the relevance of the applications to the TS Alliance's funding priorities, and (3) the Board of Directors then reviews the recommendations of the Science and Medical Committee and makes final approval for funding. A total of 11 research awards were funded during 2015 for $486,198. The TS Alliance continued to support eight research grants awarded in previous years. Additionally, three new research awards were funded beginning in 2015 to: (1) Dr. Brendan Manning (Harvard School of Public Health) to study the repurposing of inhibitors of punne synthesis for TSC treatment, (2) Dr. Polina Kosillo (University of California, Berkeley) for a postdoctoral fellowship to study the impact of TSC1 gene deletion on dopamine neurons, and (3) Dr. Mustafa Sahin (Boston Children's Hospital) to study the "hedgehog" gene and ciliary signaling in TSC. Implemented in 2006, the TSC Natural History Database captures clinical data to document the impact of the disease on a person's health over his or her lifetime. As of December 2015, 1,849 people with tuberous sclerosis complex were enrolled in the project from among 18 U.S.-based sites. The TS Alliance provides funding to participating clinics to perform data entry, monitors the integrity of the database, and makes data available to investigators to answer specific research questions and identify potential participants for clinical trials and studies. In 2015, the TS Alliance invested $467,608 in the TSC Database and designed a sub-project on epilepsy to address detailed questions about epilepsy in TSC. A contract with Novartis executed in November 2012 continued to provide TS Alliance with funding to enhance and grow the TSC Database through 2015. The TSC Biosample Repository is a TS Alliance-directed project initiated in 2014 that will impact research over the next ten years or more. High-quality biosamples such as blood, DNA, and tissues linked to detailed clinical data are required for researchers to understand why TSC is so different from person to person. Such samples are currently unavailable, and the TS Alliance's Science and Medical Committee identified this as a gap that can only be filled effectively with leadership of the TS Alliance, guided by a steering committee of clinicians and researchers. The TS Alliance contracted with the Van Andel Research Institute in Grand Rapids, Michigan, to host and distribute biosamples. Samples in the repository will be available to qualified researchers worldwide and will be associated with detailed clinical data, such as that found in our existing TSC Natural History Database. The Biosample Repository also houses samples collected as part of the TSC Clinical Research Consortium's Rare Disease Clinical Research Network project that launched in 2015. The TS Alliance launched a new TSC Preclinical Consortium in 2015, which will enable prioritization of candidate drugs or compounds based on comparing head-to-head data using consistent animal models and rigorous testing procedures. The TS Alliance is ideally positioned to drive this collaboration-with input from academic, regulatory, and industry stakeholders-by maintaining constant focus on the needs of people with TSC. To drive this project, the TS Alliance contracted with Dr. Daniela Brunner, who has more than 20 years of experience validating in vivo experimental protocols and testing drugs in many animal models of developmental, psychiatric, and neurodegenerative diseases. The TS Alliance has negotiated a license with Brigham and Women's Hospital to use specific mice developed at that institution for experiments done by the TSC Preclinical Consortium. The TS Alliance is also finalizing agreements for use of other TSC mouse models from other institutions and has solicited proposals for breeding of mice and performing epilepsy-related experiments. These proposals will be reviewed to select laboratories best suited for conducting breeding and experiments. Several small and large pharmaceutical companies have expressed interest in the consortium, and all mouse license agreements include the rights for the TS Alliance to perform experiments under contract for commercial entities. The TS Alliance continued to be a key part of the TSC Clinical Research Consortium although only a small amount of TS Alliance financial support was required because of the consortium's success in obtaining NIH funding. The five clinics comprising this consortium received NIH grants to conduct two clinical studies initiated in 2013. These two clinical studies will: (1) determine what early signs or tests can identify infants with TSC at highest risk of developing autism by age three, and (2) measure the ability of EEG and brain imaging to assess the risk of newly diagnosed infants with TSC to develop infantile spasms. The biomarkers resulting from studies will have a major impact on our ability to intervene very early to prevent some of the most devastating manifestations of TSC. An interim analysis of the EEG study demonstrated that, indeed, specific abnormal EEG findings can predict that an infant will progress to develop clinical seizures. Additionally, the coordinated work to execute both of these studies has developed infrastructure and processes to form the basis of an ongoing and growing TSC Clinical Research Network. The TS Alliance continued supporting Dr. Mustafa Sahin (Boston Children's Hospital) and his research of imaging analysis in the rare diseases clinical research network. The consortium submitted an additional NIH grant application that, if funded, will add two additional clinical sites and enable the first clinical trial to prevent the development of epilepsy in infants diagnosed with TSC. As the TSC Preclinical Consortium and translational research in TSC produces additional ideas for clinical studies, the efficient initiation and conduct of future clinical trials will benefit from having this infrastructure in place to enable investigators to quickly and affordably execute studies. The TS Alliance's Chief Scientific Officer is on the leadership team of the consortium. The TS Alliance co-sponsored with the Tuberous Sclerosis Association in the UK the 2015 International TSC Research Conference. From Treatment to Prevention, held in Windsor, UK. Approximately 260 attendees from 30 countries participated in the conference featuring oral presentations, a poster session, and ancillary meetings including TSC International and TSCure, a working group of clinical researchers tackling issues necessary to plan clinical trials of very early treatments to prevent manifestations of TSC and LAM. This conference was supported by a grant from Novartis, while The Rothberg Institute for Childhood Diseases was a presenting sponsor. Support was also provided by the Bran O'Brien Family, GW Pharmaceuticals, Bureful, the Castle Hotel Windsor, the National Institutes of Health, the National Institute of Neurological Disorders and Stroke, and the Nation Center for Advancing Translational Sciences.

Family Services develops programs and services that provide individuals with TSC direct access to information, resources, and specialists experienced in the diagnosis, treatment and management of TSC. The Family Services Department provided support and resources to 2,905 individuals and families dealing with TSC throughout 2015. The Vice President of Outreach attended 39 school meetings (IEPs, Evaluation Team Meetings, 504 Plan Meetings, Resolution Meetings, and Mediations) in person, through SKYPE or Facetime, and via conference calls to support families in attaining educational services for their children throughout the country. In 2015, 24 Educational Liaison volunteers worked in 24 states to connect families to free educational advocacy trainings in collaboration with the states' Parent Training and Information Centers. As a result, more than 1,885 free parent trainings/webinars on educational advocacy were offered to families dealing with educational issues for their children. In addition, the Educator Mentor Program supported 89 school systems in understanding the learning needs of children with TSC. Through a network of 35 volunteer branches of the organization, called Community Alliances, local education and support group meetings were held throughout the country. Through these Community Alliances, the TS Alliance hosted 76 educational meetings and gatherings. Among these 76 meetings was a 13-meeting Town Hall educational series. The series title was New Clinical Research in Epilepsy and Infantile Spasms. These Town Hall meetings were hosted in TSC clinics and other venues across the United States to educate TSC individuals and families about new research in epilepsy and infantile spasms with 160 people attending. One new Community Alliance, the TS Alliance of Kentucky/West Virginia, was added in 2015. The TS Alliance facilitated 7,413 peer-to-peer supports from Adult Regional Coordinators, Clinic Ambassadors, Dependent Adult Transition Resource Coordinators and through Community Alliance meetings. In 2015, the TS Alliance hosted three Regional TSC Conferences held in St. Paul, MN, Stanford, CA, and Winston-Salem, NC with 180 combined attendees. These conferences brought together individuals, parents, caregivers and members of the medical community to provide the most up-to-date information so parents and adults with TSC can make informed decisions when evaluating treatment options. These one-day symposiums offered educational outreach, information on the latest treatments in TSC, research updates, and support options. They featured the region's top experts and provided attendees the opportunity to ask questions in an open panel session with these experts in a nurturing, supportive environment. Regional TSC Conferences provide much-needed forums for the growing number of people facing the daily challenges of TSC.

Public Health Education heightens awareness of TSC throughout the general public to broaden the scope of support and understanding beyond TSC individuals and their families. During 2015, the TS Alliance produced three issues of its national magazine, Perspective, which is mailed to 15,000-plus constituents as well as posted on the website. The TS Alliance's website increases awareness and provides extensive education via 1 million-plus hits monthly from an average of more than 38,000 unique visitors. The TS Alliance also relies heavily on social media to educate constituents and promote new resources and events. Its Facebook Group boasts more than 7,000 members, while its Twitter account has 1,400-plus followers. To increase public awareness, the TS Alliance introduced a new public awareness campaign called #IAMTSC. This effort includes a dedicated website at IAMTSC.org, which garnered 21,912 page views from 10,788 unique visitors through December 31. Public service announcements were also filmed and throughout 2015 played 3,807 times on TV stations across the United States, reaching a potential audience of more than 21 million. The TS Alliance once again participated in TSC Global Awareness Day on May 15, where the #IAMTSC theme was leveraged heavily on social media and in a satellite media tour, sponsored by Novartis, featuring the TS Alliance President & CEO and the #IAMTSC campaign's creator-a dad whose daughter has TSC. This media tour reached 4.8 million people. In 2015, the TS Alliance also heavily promoted Infantile Spasms Awareness by producing four new videos for parents whose children with TSC experience these types of seizures; these videos were viewed 1,879 times by December 31. The TS Alliance, in partnership with the Child Neurology Foundation, planned and executed Infantile Spasms Awareness Week, December 1-7. The TS Alliance public awareness campaign included social media, paid advertising to first line physicians and media tour. Facebook advertising to reach misdiagnosed or those seeking a diagnosis reached 31,547 people. Advertising to first line physicians included American College of Emergency Physicians (ACEP) Now Website banner ad with 5,279 impressions, ACEP online newsletter with 21,061 subscribers, and the American Academy of Pediatrics Gateway with 50,000 impressions. The Satellite media tour with 15 aired interviews (3 TV/12 radio) reached a total audience of 2,727,039 (61,023 broadcast, 2,665,966 radio).

Government Relations focuses on educating members of Congress about TSC to further TSC research, awareness and clinical care The annual TS Alliance March on Capitol Hill to advocate for federal funding for the Tuberous Sclerosis Complex Research Program (TSCRCP) at the Department of Defense's (DoD) Congressionally Directed Medical Research Program (CDMRP) took place in early March 2015 More than 80 members of the TSC community participated, asking their senators and representatives to sign onto Dear Colleague letters in support of TSC research In the House, 27% or 117 Democratic and Republican Representatives signed onto a bipartisan Dear Colleague letter of support from Representatives Loretta Sanchez (D-CA) and Mike Fitzpatrick (R-PA) The number of signatures secured for the Sanchez-Fitzpatrick letter greatly exceeds the numbers set in previous years The Senate letter was sponsored by Senators Chris Murphy (D-CT) and Johnny Isakson (R-GA) and included 22 signatures In FY2016, the TSC Research Program at the CDMRP received a $6 million appropriation, bringing the cumulative funding to $65 million since 2002 as a result of our successful grassroots efforts Research done through this program has recently led to additional clinical trials including determining if imatinib, a drug FDA-approved for cancer, can safely improve levels of VEGF-D, a biomarker of lymphangioleiomyomatosis (LAM), a life-threatening lung manifestation of TSC, funded in FY2013 (the most recent year for which awards have been announced), testing a combination of two drugs to treat LAM funded in FY2012, a multi-site clinical trial testing the efficacy of an experimental topical rapamycin cream to treat the disfiguring facial tumors, facial angiofibromas, caused by TSC funded in FY2010, a clinical research network was created to test potential new therapies, to validate biomarkers, and to learn the natural history of leading to a clinical trial funded in FY2012 Building upon FY2010-funded research on glutamate receptors (mGluR5), several companies are now looking at developing drugs to link cognitive impairments in TSC to autism, anxiety, and other mental disorders The TSCRCP has also funded research to develop animal models of TSC that have seizures, enabling a better understanding of the etiology of TSC In 2013 an industry-sponsored clinical trial began to test mTOR inhibitors to treat epilepsy in individuals with TSC None of this progress would have been possible without the critical support provided through the TSCRCP Additional Government Relations efforts included a Congressional Briefing on Capitol Hill to commemorate TSC Global Awareness Day on May 15, 2015 Congressional staff and key members of the TSC research and grassroots communities attended the event
(Code)	(Expenses $ 40,042	including grants of $)	(Revenue $)

Return Reference	Explanation
Part IX	In 2015, the TS Alliance invested time and funds in the search for a new Controller and CFO. The board felt it was vital to make this investment for the continuity and success of organizational infrastructure. We also experienced the unplanned, sudden death of the Director of Special Events and Corporate Partnerships, leading to a nationwide search for a replacement. Simultaneously, the TS Alliance was building new research tools, the Biosample Repository and the Preclinical Consortium. Although the foundation of a very strong program was built for exponential growth in 2016, the Biosample Repository did not collect samples as quickly as planned and the Preclinical Consortium did not enter the testing phase that was anticipated in 2015. As a result of all of these circumstances, the expense ratios for administration and fundraising are heavier than planned at 27% and program expenses lower than planned at 73%.
