(Code) (Expenses $ 1,128,496 including grants of $ 814,333) (Revenue $ 0)

Capacity Building GFN provides catalytic investments in food banks that allow them to grow their service area or increase their distribution of nutrient-rich, perishable foods Although the majority of food banks in GFN's network benefit from local support, it is difficult for them to secure the resources needed to expand their service area or build out their infrastructure to deliver new categories of food, particularly fruits and vegetables To remedy this, GFN is partnering with global donors to grow the resource pool into which GFN food banks can tap and partner with food banks to determine the investments that would have the greatest impact on hunger and malnutrition Capacity-building efforts initiated by GFN benefit from the expertise of our programming team, which has decades of experience in hunger relief and food banking In FY16 this capacity building program provided 900,000 people around the world with safe and nutritious food Food banks in Argentina, Australia, Canada, Chile, Hong Kong, Israel, Mexico, China (Shanghai), Singapore, Taiwan, Turkey, and the United Kingdom benefited An example of this work is the Backpack Program at APT, a food bank in Mexico City This program provides nutritious meals for 300 hungry children and their families each week so they can have healthy meals when they are not in school In addition to customized capacity building for individual food banks, GFN is also developing products that can be rolled out throughout our network This year, through a partnership with a third party, GFN developed an electronic inventory management system that will enable food banks across the globe to move food more quickly and effectively to those in need Proof of concept for this "IT Starter Kit" was completed in May 2016 with GFN Certified Member Feeding Hong Kong Feeding Hong Kong has already seen more than 30% gains in efficiency

4b

(Code) (Expenses $ 390,169 including grants of $ 0) (Revenue $ 23,196)

Education and Training The GFN Food Bank Leadership Institute (FBLI) remains the only training and education conference for food bank leaders based in Latin America, the Caribbean, the Middle East, Africa, and Asia Many food bankers outside of the US, Canada and Europe are extremely isolated For them, FBLI is not only the sole opportunity for specialized professional training, but also a chance to connect with peers This year's FBLI brought together 74 food bank leaders from 38 countries More than half of the audience was made up of first time attendees, and 12 people were from food banks that had never been represented before Sessions covered everything from the basics of food banking to models for effective board governance and advancing nutrition Although FBLI remains a training conference, it is increasingly becoming a platform to share best practices and ideas This is especially evident by the growing attendance of US and European food bankers, who have access to training through their national and regional associations yet still prioritize attending FBLI Engagement in FBLI is proven to be transformational for new and emerging food bank leaders An assessment conducted in FY16 found that early-stage food banks that were regularly engaged with FBLI over a period of five years were able to ramp up their operations more quickly than those that were inconsistently engaged with the Institute Based on this assessment's findings, GFN has launched an online platform that will enable its members to receive virtual training throughout the year, as a complement to FBLI Over the next year, GFN will be developing and refining targeted coursework and promoting user adoption The plan is to eventually evolve this Center into a platform for collaboration and knowledge exchange on topics that will support and accelerate food bank operations

4c

(Code) (Expenses $ 86,873 including grants of $ 0) (Revenue $ 0)

Assuring Safety through Certification Although much of GFN's work now focuses on strengthening and directing resources to established food banks, there are still many communities where new food banks are needed For these new food banks, GFN provides focused and intensive training, know-how, and support that is intended to help them launch and grow operations much more quickly Once sufficiently developed, food banks are "certified" by GFN and formally join our network This certification is viewed by many partners as a third-party seal of approval that validates the food bank's operations, allowing it to access financial and food resources from local and global partners For example, certification ensures that a food bank is legally registered, is operating ethically and free from corruption, is partnering effectively with social service agencies, and is handling food safely Certification is reviewed by GFN every two years to ensure compliance with legal, financial, ethical, and food safety standards In FY16, GFN welcomed the Colombian national network of food banks, ABACO, into its network More than 40% of Colombians are food insecure, yet 15% of food is wasted Since GFN began partnering with ABACO, the national network has increased its food distribution by 14% Food banks in Brazil, Guatemala, Russia, and Taiwan were also re-certified

990 Schedule F, Supplemental Information

Return Reference	Explanation
Schedule F, Part I, Line 2 Procedures for monitoring use of grant funds	The Global FoodBanking Network (GFN) makes occasional grants to food banks or national food bank networks in countries other than the United States for a variety of purposes. The majority of grants are aimed at helping the grantee to expand operational or programmatic capacity/ reach, and accordingly are awarded for the purchase of vehicles or equipment, hiring of staff, or acquisition or improvement of warehouse facilities. Grantees are selected based on a combination of factors, including *specific needs identified by the potential grantee, *GFN ability to raise the resources needed to fund those needs, *the conduct of business and legal due diligence to qualify the potential grantee in accordance with GFN, US legal, and donor criteria, *the willingness of the grantee to execute a grant agreement that stipulates, among other things, the purpose of the grant, the restricted use(s) of the grant, and reporting requirements to facilitate monitoring. When a grant is offered to a grantee, GFN negotiates a grant agreement with the grantee that addresses all relevant programmatic and legal requirements related to the grant, and then engages in-country counsel to conduct legal due diligence on the grantee, assuring that it is a legally established, in-good-standing entity in its country and has legal authority to enter into a binding grant agreement. Finally, GFN screens the grantee, its governing board, its management and key staff with authority to disburse grant funds, and the bank where the funds will be held against several Terrorist Watch Lists. Only after the agreement is signed and both the legal due diligence and the screening process are positively completed will GFN transfer the funds to the grantee. The Grant Agreement is a legally binding contract, and it stipulates the timeline and content for periodic reports by the grantee to GFN on the use of the grant funds and their impact. A standard financial report template is incorporated in the grant agreement, and the content of narrative reports is also defined. Grant funds are typically required to be held in separate accounts established solely for these funds in order to facilitate auditing, if it should be necessary. Report due dates are tracked and follow-up on delinquent or missing reports is conducted as needed. Depending on the size and scope of the grant, as well as on certain donor requirements, GFN may visit the grantee to conduct relevant oversight activities.

A draft resulting from this process was then discussed by the Audit Committee at a meeting held on September 26, 2016, also attended by the CFO, representatives from the Corporation's outside tax preparation and legal counsel.
