Tribal Gathering is our main program and it is the hub where the rest of charitable projects with the indigenous communities invited are forged. Once a year we bring together indigenous people from over twenty countries from five continents to partake in Tribal Gathering. It's an 18 day international gathering on a beach in the Caribbean, attracting paying attendees from more than forty countries. In 2016 we had around 1000 participants that benefited from it. Indirectly, its reach is a lot bigger through the consequent projects performed with the communities partaking as well as the connections made during the event with participants from all over the world. The tribespeople run workshops, presentations and rituals on various aspects of indigenous art and culture to share with the other fellow tribes and with the international audience. Other non-indigenous also run workshops throughout the event to educate the general public on environmental and social issues, nutrition, health, sustainable development, etc. There are two music stages with international artists performing eclectic, global and electronic music and a plethora of art installations and exhibits all to pursue the understanding and appreciation of art by the general public. This event will eventually become the main fundraiser for our charitable projects. Once the event is financially sustainable, which we foresee will happen in the 2018 edition, we will train and hand it over to a management team that involves the attending tribes. We aim to set up more of these events around the world, creating a global indigenous networking platform that can finance numerous projects and reach all corners of the planet where natives are in need of a voice, support, leverage, cultural preservation and self-determination. Tribal Gathering is run mainly by volunteers, some coming only for the event, some who are also involved during the rest of the year in other aspects of our organization and its indigenous projects. GeoParadise for this period had also 2 paid officers who have managed the event production and promotion as well as many other aspects of the organization as a whole. Here is a list of the workshops, talks and presentations that took place there: (a) Natural Holistic Health and Body Movement, (b) Environment and Sustainable Development, (c) Music, Arts and Crafts, (d) Geoparadise Charitable Projects, and (e) Indigenous Culture

4b (Code) (Expenses $ 10,789 including grants of $ 0) (Revenue $ 0)

EMBERA CHAMI BEADS PROJECT - PHASE 2, 3 & 4 (Oct 2015 & Jan/Feb 2016 Phase 2 In October of 2015 Geoparadise returned to Colombia to visit the Embera Chamí. This time we met with a tribal member, Nelson, in Bogota to purchase a small order of beads for their community to be used in creating handicrafts, their main source of income. These beads we bought as precursor to the large order we placed through overseas manufacture. The need for the small order was to give the Chamí's time to create their crafts before an upcoming big arti-crafts fair that was taking place in Bogotá in December 2015. After discussion the Chamí stressed their need for help with travel and lodging for this event, which Geoparadise was able to fund. Phase 3 In December 2015 GeoParadise sent a couple of volunteers to the fair to take pictures and film the event, the crafts made from the beads donated in October and get feedback from the participation of the Chamí in it. Phase 4 A wholesale order of 650 kg of chaquira beads (50 kg of 13 different colors) was placed to a chinese manufacturer in October 2015. The order arrived in Colombia in January 2016 and was imported and delivered to the Embera Chamí community via their artisan asociaci3n Nabera Jua Pensamiento Ancestral. The association's 65 members and their families (some of which are made up to 10-15 people) benefited from this donation. GeoParadise covered the costs of the beads, transport and import of the order into Colombia. The Chamí are a displaced community, which lost their ancestral lands due to persistent guerrilla violence in the area, and now live in the slams of Pereira, surviving in precarious conditions with small crowded houses and usually selling jewelry in the streets as their main source of income. The project is in relation to the mission statement whereas the project provided basic necessities to low-income, disadvantaged, and other distressed populations and communities as well as supporting traditional arts and crafts.

4c (Code) (Expenses $ 3,408 including grants of $ 0) (Revenue $ 0)

KAMAYURA COMMUNITY MEETING HALL / VISITORS CENTER (AUG/SEP 2015) The Kamayura shared their interest in building a community meeting hall and visitors center with a new architecture design that they had seen at Tribal Gathering Festival. The Kamayura wanted to learn how to make these types of structures, so the whole community took part in the building of this center when the Geoparadise team arrived. All people in the Kamayura village, around 700 members, could use the center when completed. The center would be used to hold ceremonies and celebrations, present and sell their jewelry to tourists, and facilitate training programs such as when the fire department came to town. The project is in relation to the mission statement whereas the project promotes and supports public understanding and appreciation of art and helps the community to generate income from tourism as well as providing a space for social and cultural activities in the community.

Schedule F, Part I, Line 1	Tribal Gathering is our main program and it is the hub where the rest of charitable projects with the indigenous communities invited are forged. It's an 18 day international gathering on a beach in the Caribbean, attracting paying attendees from more than forty countries. In 2016 we had around 1000 participants that benefited from it. The tribespeople run workshops, presentations and rituals on various aspects of indigenous art and culture to share with the other fellow tribes and with the international audience. Other non-indigenous also run workshops throughout the event to educate the general public on environmental and social issues, nutrition, health, sustainable development, etc. There are two music stages with international artists performing eclectic, global and electronic music and a plethora of art installations and exhibits all to pursue the understanding and appreciation of art by the general public. This event will eventually become the main fundraiser for our charitable projects. Once the event is financially sustainable, which we foresee will happen in the 2018 edition, we will train and hand it over to a management team that involves the attending tribes. We aim to set up more of these events around the world, creating a global indigenous networking platform that can finance numerous projects and reach all corners of the planet where natives are in need of a voice, support, leverage, cultural preservation and self-determination. Tribal Gathering is run mainly by volunteers, some coming only for the event, some who are also involved during the rest of the year in other aspects of our organization and its indigenous projects. GeoParadise for this period had also 2 paid officers who have managed the event production and promotion as well as many other aspects of the organization as a whole. Geoparadise Inc also provides other programs such as the Kamayura Community Meeting Hall, Embera Chami Beads Project, Intertribal Symposium Guatemala, Boruca Art Supply Coop, Livestock Breeding, Wixarica Water Project, Donation of Piglets to Guna Yala, etc.
