Return Reference	Explanation
Part I, Lines 4a-b	Suzanne Lawder was employed by Goodwill Industries of Southern Arizona, Inc. (GISA) for 32 years. She served as President and CEO for 27 years. She assumed the responsibility of President/CEO when GISA was faltering and on the verge of filing for bankruptcy. In line with current best practices, the GISA Board, in 2009, hired an independent compensation consultant who reported that Ms. Lawder's compensation remained below comparable compensation being paid other not-for-profit top executives in the Tucson Metro area. Of further concern was GISA's commitment to Affirmative Action and the fact that the other executives, with like organizations, were all male. Ms. Lawder continued in her position for many years without retirement and other benefits accorded to CEOs in similar positions in the Tucson area. To address this situation, a company specializing in "catch-up" clauses was retained. After almost a year of working with the outside consultant on the above issue, the Board approved, with the recommendation of the Compensation Committee, a retirement "catch-up" clause with the purpose of back-paying retirement benefits by including a 457(b) and an After Tax Savings Program in Ms. Lawder's employment agreement. During the payroll year ended 12/31/15, Ms. Lawder received $227,802 of severance payments. This amount is included with her wages and other compensation on her Form W-2. During the payroll year ended 12/31/15, $205,895 was contributed to the After Tax Savings Plan for Ms. Lawder. This amount is included with her wages and other compensation on her Form W-2.

990 Schedule O, Supplemental Information

Return Reference	Explanation
Form 990, Part VI, Section B, line 15	GISA follows a compensation philosophy which is to provide compensation that is fair, reasonable, and consistent with compensation paid in the non-profit sector for positions of comparable complexity and responsibility. The goal is to recruit and retain high-performing employees and to motivate, recognize and reward excellent performance regarding contributions to the fulfillment of GISA's mission, vision and values. The Compensation Committee has been delegated such decision making power by the Board of Directors. With the assistance and recommendations of an outside, independent consultant, all compensation arrangements regarding executives and key employees of GISA are approved by the Compensation Committee which is composed entirely of individuals who do not have a conflict of interest with respect to the compensation arrangements. The recommendations of the outside consultant are determined by market research results based on data collected from other similar non-profit organizations and include organization based performance measures. The Compensation Committee ensures that the basis upon which such compensation recommendations and decisions made are well justified, reasonable and documented. A report of the work of the Compensation Committee is then presented to the full Board.
Form 990, Part VI, Section C, line 19	Governing documents, conflict of interest policy and annual report are available upon request. The annual report is also posted on the website.
