Form 990, Part VI, Line 12c Explanation of Monitoring and Enforcement of Conflicts	Center for Human Services (CHS) has specific written policies for monitoring potential or actual conflicts of interest. Persons covered under the policy include any employee or volunteer (Board Members) with decision making authority. For volunteers (Board Members), the executive committee of the board determines whether a conflict exists. For employees, the executive director makes the final decision. Employees update their conflict of interest disclosure statement annually as do volunteers. Actual conflicts are reviewed by the Board of Directors, Executive Committee for Volunteers and by the executive director and members of the senior management team for employees. The Board executive committee reviews any actual or potential conflict involving the executive director. Certain restrictions may be applied, depending on the actual conflict for both volunteers and employees. Restrictions could include prohibiting participation in board deliberations and transactions and for employees prohibiting participation at identified meetings, etc.
