Also complete this part for any additional information. (See instructions.)

Part VI, Section A, Line 2: The Trust's supported organization is the University of Cambridge. The University of Cambridge is a collegiate public research university in Cambridge, England. Founded in 1209, Cambridge is the second oldest university in the English-speaking world and the world's fourth-oldest surviving university. The University of Cambridge is equivalent to an organization described in Section 509(a)(1) because it meets the requirements to qualify as a Section 170(b)(1)(A)(ii) educational institution. The University of Cambridge presents formal instruction of individuals as its primary function; maintains a regular curriculum and a regular faculty of qualified teachers, has a regularly enrolled body of students in attendance; has a place where educational activities are regularly carried on; and has adopted and operates pursuant to a racially nondiscriminatory policy as to students.

Part IV, Section A, Line 4b: The Trust's Board of Trustees maintains dominion and control over all of its funds. The Trust is organized and operated to conduct a scholarship program to permit foreign individuals to study at the University of Cambridge. The Trust's Board of Trustees awards scholarships to cover tuition and related fees to eligible students on the basis of intellectual ability, leadership qualities, and a desire to contribute to society throughout the world. Candidates apply for the Trust's scholarships by submitting an application to the University of Cambridge Board of Graduate Studies. Candidates are short-listed by relevant academic departments at Cambridge University. Short-listed candidates are interviewed by panels convened by the Trust consisting of academic assessors in the US, the United Kingdom and in other countries. The selection panels look for qualities of academic excellence, leadership potential, and a commitment to community. Candidates selected through the interview process are then offered scholarships to attend the University of Cambridge for periods relating to the length of the course which they plan to undertake at the University. Whilst the University of Cambridge has the right to appoint all of the Trustees of the Trust other than two Trustees appointed by the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, thereby establishing the requisite Type I supporting organization relationship between the University and the Trust, the Trust's Board of Trustees controls decisions on all scholarship grants the Trust awards. The Trust's Board of Trustees also controls all decisions concerning expenditures in support of the scholarship program, including expenditures to carry out events for scholarship recipients, expenses associated with hosting a scholars' common room at the University, and other program expenses.

Part IV Section A, Line 4c: The Trust is organized and operated to make academic scholarships to eligible foreign individuals to permit such individuals to study at the University of Cambridge. As part of the scholarship program, the Gates Cambridge Trust provided full cost scholarships to students for study at the University of Cambridge in the amount of $8,430,000 for the 2015-16 fiscal year, including $4,356,000 for associated academic fees. The Trust transmits scholarship payments, including tuition and academic fees, for each recipient directly to Cambridge University, to be applied toward the cost of each student's course of study there.

The Gates Cambridge Trust makes awards to scholars of outstanding academic merit and leadership potential from any country around the world (except the UK) who are committed to serving their communities and who gain admission to the University of Cambridge.

Awards are widely advertised on the Trust website and in the University of Cambridge literature. Candidates apply to the University of Cambridge through its Board of Graduate Studies.

Candidates are short-listed by the relevant academic departments in Cambridge. Short-listed candidates are then interviewed by panels convened by the Trust consisting of academic assessors in the US, the United Kingdom, and in other countries.

The selection panels look for qualities of academic and leadership potential and commitment to the community. Successful candidates, selected by the interview process, are offered scholarships for periods relating to the length of the course which they plan to undertake at Cambridge.
