| Page 1 Line 2 For Grantmakers | To receive the final 30% payment on grant awards, all research grant recipients must submit a final report. That report includes a report of the research results, a financial report (typically prepared by the institution's grants office), and documentation that investigators have submitted the research work for publication in an AOFAS journal and for presentation at an AOFAS meeting. We ask grant awardees to participate in a voluntary survey that is sent every few years to track the numbers of publications, presentations, and additional funding from other sources that result from the AOFAS grant-funded work, however, this is for program impact-tracking rather than financial accounting. |
