The Health Systems Strengthening Area includes PHII (Public Health Informatics Institute), TEPHINET (Training Programs in Epidemiology and Public Health), and African Health Workforce Project. PHII provided direct services to the U.S. public health system through a cooperative agreement with the CDC and funding from the de Beaumont and Robert Wood Johnson foundations. This funding supported state and local health departments in developing immunization information systems, CDC in developing an immunization information strategy, PHII and its partners in providing technical assistance and online tools to state and local health departments in linking to private healthcare electronic records systems for the purpose of electronic case reporting, and PHII in providing training to public health professionals in essential informatics competencies. The funding also supported the continuing development and use of a workforce deployment tool that assists African countries in allocating health workers to high-need areas in order to strengthen HIV treatment and prevention. Additionally, PHII is a partner on a collaborative Gates Foundation-funded project that is collecting data to reduce childhood mortality across the globe, this project launched six new surveillance sites in Asia and Africa this year. TEPHINET continued its mission of supporting Field Epidemiology Training Programs (FETPs) throughout the world. TEPHINET was awarded a cooperative agreement from the CDC to continue its support of FETPs in countries such as Pakistan, Bangladesh, Egypt, Tanzania, and Morocco, to name a few. Support was provided to FETP residents who were being trained to conduct infectious and chronic disease surveillance and to implement control and prevention efforts. FETP residents received training in general epidemiology topics such as outbreak investigation, research and methodology, and biostatistics, and training was also tailored to disease-specific issues in the residents' regions. In addition, TEPHINET provided robust networking and continuing education opportunities for FETP residents and graduates by hosting a global scientific conference in September 2015 that was attended by over 500 public health officials from 60 countries. Workshops and abstract presentations provided the most up-to-date information about trends and research in epidemiology and global public health. There were two additional CDC cooperative agreements that TEPHINET managed over the last year. The Latin America cooperative agreement implemented initiatives throughout the region to increase awareness and response to non-communicable diseases, such as heart disease and cancer. The final cooperative agreement implemented by TEPHINET is the National Stop Transmission of Polio (N-STOP) program, which provided technical assistance to immunization campaigns throughout Pakistan. African Health Workforce Project. Countries worldwide are challenged by health worker shortages and an imbalance of skilled health professionals. Often there is an abundance of skilled workers in some regions while other communities are lacking. Regulatory agencies, charged with ensuring the quality of the education and skills of the healthcare professionals, are often underfunded and lack basic resources such as information systems, frameworks for continuous professional education and IT infrastructure. Healthcare managers need adequate information about the supply and demand for healthcare workers to manage their workforce more efficiently, plan for scale up of the workforce, ensure proper regulation of professionals, and to develop effective human resource policies. However, many countries lack computerized data systems that can provide these critical data. The African Health Workforce Project is designed to address these issues by assisting health professional regulatory agencies in development of human resource information systems, improvement of IT infrastructure, and collaborative forums to assist them in strengthening regulatory functions to improve professional standards in the east, central, and southern regions of Africa.
4b	(Code) (Expenses $ 19,664,766 including grants of $ 2,901,205) (Revenue $ 13,645,869)
The Neglected Tropical Disease Area includes CWW (Children Without Worms), ITI (The International Trachoma Initiative), NTD-SC (the Neglected Tropical Disease-Support Center), and MDP (The Mectizan Donation Program). CWW is a partnership of the Task Force for Global Health, Johnson & Johnson, GlaxoSmithKline, and the Children's Investment Fund Foundation. CWW promotes and assists efforts to reduce the burden of soil-transmitted helminthiasis (STH) in all at-risk populations. After years of modest efforts, the global problem of STH has achieved increased visibility and interest in the last five years. In 2014, partners charged CWW with establishing and growing the STH Coalition and serving as the Coalition secretariat. Currently, the Coalition has over 55 partner organizations which are involved in different aspects of STH control. CWW is also the secretariat of the STH Advisory Committee, an independent expert scientific and technical advisory body providing guidance and support to key STH stakeholders. CWW increasingly provides direct, ongoing technical support to specific national STH programs, enabling the delivery of comprehensive STH interventions and accelerating the scale-up of deworming to achieve WHO coverage targets of 75% of at-risk children. CWW support of national STH programs focuses on planning, implementing, and monitoring intervention delivery and conducting robust parasitological monitoring. ITI has established a unique competitive advantage within the global trachoma community based on its singular focus on trachoma, its credibility as a neutral convener and trusted ally, its flexibility and ability to lead initiatives in support of scale-up, and its role as the sole steward of Pfizer, Inc.'s Zithromax(R) drug donation. ITI fulfills three value-adding roles that contribute to the implementation of the WHO-endorsed SAFE strategy (Surgery, Antibiotic treatment, Facial cleanliness, Environmental improvement), namely: 1) stewardship of the Zithromax(R) drug donation, 2) program delivery strengthening, through operational research, knowledge sharing, capacity building and technical backstopping, and 3) partnership development, through support to the International Coalition for Trachoma Control (ICTC), spearheading WASH/NTD engagement, and mobilizing resources for trachoma. In 2016, ITI provided over 120 million doses of Zithromax (R) to 24 countries. Funded principally by the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation and the U.S. Agency for International Development, the NTD-SC aims to optimize Operational Research (OR) to eliminate neglected tropical diseases which threaten the lives and well-being of more than one billion people in some of the world's poorest communities. As of 2016, the NTD-SC manages a portfolio of more than 115 OR projects spanning 53 countries and targeting all five neglected tropical diseases amenable to preventive chemotherapy: lymphatic filariasis, onchocerciasis, STH, schistosomiasis and trachoma. Some of these OR study products have resulted into program recommendations which the World Health Organization (WHO) has endorsed and adopted into WHO policy. In addition, the NTD-SC serves as the Secretariat for the Coalition for Operational Research on Neglected Tropical Diseases (COR-NTD) yearly meeting. This meeting brings together a growing group of researchers and country program implementers working to foster important collaborations to address the challenges faced by NTD programs which prevent the shared goal of eliminating these infections. The 2-day event featured Jimmy Carter as keynote speaker and convened nearly four hundred individuals from more than 30 countries, translating ideas into future OR projects for 2017. Established 30 years ago, MDP is the longest-running, disease-specific, drug donation program and public/private partnership of its kind. The MDP secretariat is a partner of the Task Force for Global Health, and was established to provide medical, technical and administrative oversight of the donation of the anti-parasitic medication Mectizan for river blindness (onchocerciasis) control. In 1998, Merck expanded the mandate of the program to include lymphatic filariasis elimination in Africa and in Yemen where the two diseases are co-endemic through the co-administration of Mectizan and albendazole, an anti-parasitic donated by GlaxoSmithKline. In 2016, MDP provided an estimated 250 million Mectizan and/or albendazole treatments to onchocerciasis and lymphatic filariasis endemic countries in Africa, Latin America, and Yemen.
4c	(Code) (Expenses $ 3,757,924 including grants of $ 0) (Revenue $ 5,927,046)
The Center for Vaccine Equity made significant progress in each of the program areas this year. In support of the polio eradication initiative, CVE provided technical and planning support to facilitate the synchronized "switch" to a safer oral polio vaccine in 155 countries and the introduction of inactivated polio vaccine into 126 countries, and is serving as secretariat for the US National Polio Containment Certification Committee. The Polio Antivirals Initiative moved forward the development of a combination antiviral product with the potential to stop poliovirus excretion in immune compromised patients exposed to OPV. The preclinical studies expected to be required for initiation of clinical trials with the second drug were completed. In 2016, The Partnership for Influenza Vaccine Introduction (PIVI) delivered 800,000 doses of influenza vaccine to partner countries. Voices for Vaccines has expanded its educational outreach through new media and parenting networks, increasing its membership and its on-the-ground reach.
