Pt IV Sec A Ln 11c In 2016, Able Flight awarded a total of 12 scholarships to people with physical disabilities. This represented an increase of four scholarships over those awarded in 2015.

Able Flight scholarships for 2016 included eight for flight training, and four for aviation career training. The recipients of flight training scholarships attended Able Flight's annual joint training program with Purdue University's Department of Aviation Technology. 2016 marked the seventh consecutive year of Able Flight's joint training program at Purdue University. The flight training scholarships covered all expenses including flight school and ground school, travel and lodging, books, manuals and testing fees.

In 2016, the aviation career scholarships awarded supported university tuition and fees, technical training and flight training.

In 2016, Able Flight initiated negotiations for the expansion of its flight training program to Ohio State University. Those negotiations were successful, and training under that program begins in May of 2017.

In 2016, Able Flight continued its efforts to work with aircraft manufacturers to increase the availability of aircraft adapted for use by people with physical disabilities.

In 2016, through attendance at major aviation events, Able Flight provided mentoring and information resources for people with physical disabilities interested in entering aviation either as pilots or to seek aviation careers.
