This foundation has contributed over $120,000 to 501-c-3 charity Philippine Scholars over the last decade, far more than to any other charity. In order to determine whether we should continue or even increase our support, we, the officers of the foundation, traveled to the Philippines to meet and interview the local staff of Philippine Scholars, and the students and their families that Philippine Scholars supports through donations from our foundation.

We visited four sites served by Philippine Scholars: Cebu, Bohol, Davao, and Pampanga (Angeles City) US Government travel warnings were in effect, especially in the Davao area, so for sake of safety we engaged a knowledgeable local guide who traveled with us. Compensation for the guide comprised a daily fee plus room and board during the travel. To reduce cost, where possible we stayed with persons associated with the charity.

We met and interviewed Philippines Scholars staff, most of the scholars we support, and as many of the parents as possible. Group dinner meetings of scholars, families, and staff were held so that we could learn from the conversations at the table. We also attended the annual summer camp for scholars in Bohol, as well as college graduation exercises for two scholars that have received our support for several years.

With the exception of the airfare to and from the Philippines, expenses (listed as travel expenses in this tax return) of the trip were covered personally during the trip, and for accounting purposes shown as cash contributions in the foundation books. Expenses were carefully tracked and reported to the foundation. These are summarized on the attached page.

Philippines Trip Expense Summary:

March 30, 2016 through April 23, 2016 (25 days)
