Program 1: GCF has continued to interview domestic survivors of sex trafficking from across the United States in an effort to further our study on the health consequences of sex trafficking. We hope to visit every region of the U.S. and to obtain a sample size of at least 300 survivors. We currently have just over 200 interviews completed. In our talks with survivors we discovered that almost 100 percent had suffered at least one injury, illness or impairment while they were trafficked and many continue to struggle with long-term health issues associated with their trafficking situations. Currently, this is the largest study of survivor health issues. In 2015, we began holding a series of Roundtables for Healthcare Providers, especially doctors and nurses, clinical psychologists and social workers. The purpose of these Roundtables is to explore with health providers the best ways to educate health providers and raise awareness about human trafficking, as well as to help them develop guidelines and protocols for referral and reporting if they encounter or treat a victim of trafficking. We found that 87.8 percent of victims saw a medical professional during the time they were trafficked. The medical community could play a very important role in the identification of and assistance to victims of human trafficking if they are given the appropriate training and information on connecting victims with other services available in their communities.

Program 2: GCF's anchor research project is an International Case Law Database, the purpose of which is to create a searchable, longitudinal database of all forms of human trafficking including sex trafficking, labor trafficking, forced labor, bonded labor, debt bondage, involuntary domestic servitude, forced child labor, child soldiers, child sex trafficking, child sex tourism, commercial sexual exploitation of women and children. Most data on trafficking is currently calculated through a process of extrapolation. This project uses case law (U.S. and foreign national) to obtain data on perpetrators, victims and the patterns of these crimes within and between countries, creating victim profiles, perpetrator profiles and crime profiles. According to the U.S. Department of State, over 15,000 human trafficking cases (arrests, prosecutions, convictions) have been reported by 160 governments in the last ten years. Global Centurion has developed a unique methodology for identifying, analyzing, and coding these foreign national cases and extracting relevant data points to include in the database. Collection of the raw data is on-going (with a total of 7,000 cases from around the world collected) and will continue over the coming years.

Program 3: Since 2013, Global Centurion has served as Subject Matter Expert (SME) for the U.S. Department of Defense Combating Trafficking in Persons (CTIP) Office. In that capacity, GC is assisting in the largest demand reduction training in the world. As part of DOD's 5-year Strategic Action Plan, all 3 million military personnel worldwide will be required to take the DOD's General Awareness Training. The Training provides basic information on trafficking in persons and teaches DoD personnel how to understand the root causes of human trafficking; identify vulnerable populations; initiate preventive internal protocols; and establish response protocols to TIP allegations. In addition, GC also served as Subject Matter Expert for specialized trainings for Acquisition and Procurement Workforce (aimed at preventing trafficking in government contracts); Military Law Enforcement; and Leadership Training, as well as a Refresher Course for personnel who have already taken the General Awareness Training. In 2015, we updated specialized training for Acquisition and Procurement Workforce; Military Law Enforcement; and a Refresher Course for those who took the General Awareness Training. As a result of this training, DoD has seen an increase both sex and labor trafficking reports, and has assigned investigators to work on both compliance and criminal cases. Report on Trafficking in Persons in Afghanistan, drafted for PM and based on one year deployment to Afghanistan and interviews with 100 OCNs (Other Country Nationals) working under subcontract for USC (Drafted 3/16 and awaiting clearance)

Program 4. Global Centurion's work to end human trafficking is built on a simple foundation -- we believe in the dignity of every person and inherent value of every life. In contrast, the trafficker and the buyers who exploit the women and children they purchase believe that life has value only if it generates profit or provides pleasure. This is true even in the case of pregnant women and their unborn children. During GC's Health Consequences of Human Trafficking study, GC gathered new information about pregnancy, child-bearing, miscarriage and abortion in sex trafficking. With that in mind, GC discovered that the Pregnancy Resource Centers in the U.S. need training on recognizing and assisting the trafficking victims they are seeing as clients. In 2017, GC began designing a modular-based online training for Heartbeat International. The Heartbeat member Centers will have the flexibility to train their staff and volunteers when it is convenient for them. The staff and current volunteers can take the training and it will be available when new personnel come on board. The training will educate PRCs about the types and prevalence of trafficking, red flags that may indicate trafficking, signs to look for during intakes and ultrasounds, ways to communicate with victims and how to find resources to assist victims.
