NARRATIVE OF THE THREE LARGEST PROGRAMS OF Crossroads International with Budget Estimate

Calendar Year 2016

"The largest program for Crossroads International Student Ministries in 2016 is that of Conventions, Meetings, and Conferences.

After serving in campus ministry for 26 years, the Executive Director, Greg Swinney, started Crossroads to focus solely on ministry to international students. The growth trend of internationals in college in the US showed a steep upward path increasing exponentially with no sign of stopping. Many of the One million plus internationals - reportedly near 66% - left the US after two or more years in college having never been inside an American home. For this reason, Crossroads started as a resource for campus ministers across the country to get training and materials in starting or building international student outreach. Attending conventions with thousands in attendance (i.e. the North American Christian Convention and the International Conference on Missions) annually, there were opportunities to present workshops, host exhibit booths, and otherwise get exposure that help is available through the Crossroads ministry.

"The second largest program for Crossroads International Student Ministries in 2016 is Training Resources and related Travel Expenses.

Of the approximate $77,000 expense budget, ~8.6% went towards training ministries across the United States on how to start international student ministries on college campuses. With over one million international students attending college in the United States in 2016, Christian campus ministers saw the need to reach out to these students so far from home and family and demonstrate the love as taught by Jesus Christ. Numerous campus ministers contacted the Crossroads Executive Director requesting him to come to their campus for a period of days to help them train their staff and start a committed ministry to international students and visiting scholars. This includes training on cultural differences, starting ""Conversation Table"" groups to meet the needs of international students wanting to improve their English conversation skills, hosting events for fellowship and Bible teaching, and finding Friendship Families to connect with students to experience American culture in a family environment (not a home stay program but a friendship building program).

The third largest program expenditure (about 4% of total spent for the year) for Crossroads International Student Ministries in 2016 was for promotional expenses including training/resources to recruit ministry workers both paid and volunteer across the United States.

This first full year of the Crossroads Ministry required development of fundraising materials, website development, advertising and marketing

The third largest program expenditure (4.2% of total spent for the year) for Crossroads International Student

Ministries in 2016 was for promotional expenses including training/resources to recruit ministry workers both paid and volunteer across the United States.
