29 Youth Programming The following is a description of Second Cycle's Youth Programs 1 Earn a Bike An eight-week program where students learn bike anatomy, how to fix a flat tire, how to safely navigate the streets, and other skills in order to earn a bike Students have the opportunity to explore the neighborhoods by bike, practicing the safety skills acquired in class Students get the bike they work on, along with safety lights, a helmet, and a lock 2 Diversion Program Second Cycle works as a community partner with the Pierce County Juvenile Court's Diversion Program The Diversion Program provides low risk youth offenders with an alternative to formal adjudication and detention This program increases the capacity of at-risk youth and gives us the opportunity to introduce a diverse and marginalized population into the world of cycling, giving youth access to a positive, safe, and healthy community 3 Second Cycle has built a satellite location in South Tacoma that builds upon our work with youth In conjunction with IDEA, an industrial design high school, we run youth programming and an open workshop This location expands and builds upon our current youth programming and delves into fabrication and design In addition to serving youth, the open shop space is available for the surrounding community to utilize on weekends The eastside of Tacoma is diverse, home to multiple ethnic groups and tight-knit immigrant communities This neighborhood, separated from the rest of the city by a major interstate, is lacking a neighborhood bicycle shop, and Second Cycle fills a significant need-not only by providing a community-based bike shop, but by providing opportunities for low income youth and youth of color Our goals and activities for the location include the following A To engage students of IDEA, B To provide additional classroom space for Second Cycle, C To provide a community workspace for the neighborhood, D To extend our resources available to a new community 4 Probation program Second Cycle's partnership with the Pierce County Juvenile Court's probation program was created to connect young people with the resources they need to empower themselves and work toward a more positive future We use the surrounding environment and mountain biking as vehicles toward fostering community and building self-reliance among some of our society's most vulnerable members-namely, young people in the criminal justice system (Grants $ 1,440) If this amount includes foreign grants, check here . . . ☐	29a	10,243
