the Deaf and Hard of Hearing

Form 990 (2016)

Form 990, Part III, Line 4a:

Education & Training - The AG Bell convention is a four-day conference for parents, professionals and educators held every two years to help attendees connect and inspire each other while accessing the latest information relevant to childhood hearing loss. In 2016, AG Bell held the convention and LSL symposium in Denver, CO. The program provided educational content, information on the latest research and best practices, and practical solutions for professionals and families working with children and teens affected by hearing loss.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4b:

Financial Aid - AG Bell provided financial assistance to families of children with moderate to severe/profound hearing loss to assist with equipment, therapy, learning tools, specialized programming, private school, and college education

Form 990, Part III, Line 4c:

Communications & Publications - To ensure that information reaches people with hearing loss, their families and the professionals who serve them, AG Bell provided the most up to date information and well-respected publications on listening and spoken language. AG Bell's knowledge center website is the best known, internationally recognized resource providing information in both English and Spanish. AG Bell also published it's quarterly, award winning, magazine, Volta Voices, and other reliable brochures, books and materials regarding listening and spoken language.
